Interviewed by the Public.

A legitimate and honest unloading Sale seems to be a revelation. We are continually asked about it. We've nothing to hold back. These are the most important questions:

Question: Ain't you only using the name of WANAMAKER & BROWN?

Answer: Most emphatically NO! They are the sole owners; the Clothing is all their own make and new this season.

Question: With the national reputation for your Clothing, why are you selling it so cheaply?

Answer: The weather has been bad and the season backward. We've made a mistake in making half a million too much.

Question: Wouldn't it pay you better to sell at regular prices and carry the surplus?

Answer: No; Clothing carried from one season to another depreciates very materially.

Question: Would you not accomplish your object just as well by cutting the price say on one-quarter of the stock?

Answer: No; we cannot afford to invite people to an Unloading Sale and not have the prices cut on everything. Anything else would be a breach of faith.

Question: Does the cut apply to Furnishing Goods?

Answer: Yes, everything; Underwear, Gloves, Neckwear, and ALL FURNISHINGS.

Question: If I take the Clothing home and am not satisfied, will you exchange it?

Answer: We will cheerfully exchange it or refund the money without quibbling.

Question: How long will you continue selling at cut prices?

Answer: Until we accomplish what we set out to do, namely,

UNLOAD THE GOODS.

EPPS'S COCOA.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us a many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—[Civil Service Gazette.

What the Only McNichol Did for a Lonely Man.

"A bachelor, you thought? By Jove!
I rather guess I was till then;
I tell you, Tom, an old-time stove
Can play the deuce with single men.
You see we both lived—no and I—
Three stories high in Potter's flat;
Our coals got mixed and that is why
I got to know her and all that.

"I dropped a stovelid on my toe
And mashed it into royal jam;
I raved and swore—not very low—
And cursed and cursed and several times said, whew;
I heard a little timid knock,
She came and boiled the kettle quick
And pounded ice—You see the shock
Had kinder made me blind and sick.

"And when she went, by George, it seemed
As if a curtain had dropped down,
And not a ghost of sunlight gleamed
On me or all the dull old town!
I stood it—well, about a week—
And then I knocked upon her door;
I said, as soon as I could speak,
"That stove is cutting up some more!'

"Ah, Tom, old fellow, married life
Is all that heaven has lent to earth:
Go marry—get yourself a wife—
And have a shrine, a home, a hearth!
You can't afford it? Nonsense, man;
I thought so, too, and you will rue it:
Go—there's that new installment plan—
And Mac will teach you how to do it."

Lay the case before him, tell him what you want and how much you can pay for comforts, and even luxuries, by the week. Thousands have done it and are doing it every day. It's a boon to everybody. Don't fail to see

MURDER OR SUICIDE?

THE DEAD BODY OF A WOMAN TAKEN OUT OF THE THAMES.

Marks Found on the Body—Several Arrests by the Police—The Resignation of Gen. Sir Charles Warren — Wreckage and Bodies Washed Ashore — Attempt to Assassinate Prince Ferdinand—Foreign.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, November 13.—There is a sharp division of opinion over Warren's resignation. The Radicals made no attempt to conceal their delight at the downfall of the man whom they style the "Dictator." The Tories are greatly disappointed. Their attacks on the police were really aimed at Matthews, who has no friends in his own party and would probably have been ousted from his post long ago but for the fact that the Government feared the result of a bye-election in Birmingham, for, if Matthews were no longer Home Secretary he would retire from Parliament and resume practice as a barrister. The Radicals point out that Warren resigned on the anniversary of the riot in Trafalgar Square, caused by police interference, which is to be commemorated by indignation meetings this week. The Government has accepted his resignation reluctantly, and only to avoid the imminent risk of a defeat in the Commons. Mr. Gent Davis secured promises of the support of thirty Tory members. Several names are mentioned in connection with the succession to Warren's post. The most likely candidate is Malcolm Wood, the chief of the Manchester police, who greatly distinguished himself in the detection of the authors of the dynamite outrages. Howard Vincent, another candidate, was a failure as the head of the Detective Department at Scotland Yard. Moreover, he would have to vacate his seat as Tory Member for Sheffield and thus cause an election. Lord Charles Beresford is also mentioned. He was actually offered the post when Henderson retired. He first refused and then accepted when too late. Since then, however, there has arisen a strong impression in the public mind that no military or naval man should be appointed to such a post. The new commissioner will not have control of the detective police.

A FALSE RUMOR.

There is no truth in the rumor that Hartington has determined to join the Cabinet.

WHY WARREN RESIGNED.

LONDON, November 13.—In the House of Commons this afternoon Mr. Matthews, the Home Secretary, stated that the resignation of Gen. Sir Charles Warren as Chief of the Metropolitan Police was solely due to his refusal to submit to the rule which forbids officials to publicly criticise Government services. Gen. Warren, in announcing his resignation, said Mr. Matthews, wrote that had he known that such a rule existed he would never have accepted the post.

England.

MURDER OR SUICIDE.

LONDON, November 13.—The body of a well-dressed woman was taken out of the Thames this morning. There were marks on the body which gave rise to the suspicion that the woman had been murdered, but it is possible that she committed suicide and the marks were received by contact with objects in the water. The police searched the casual wards of the various police stations in the hope of getting some clue to the murderer, but they were unsuccessful. They arrested one man who had a bowie knife in his possession, but there is no reason to believe that he was instrumental in the woman's death and he will probably be discharged.

THE RACES.

At the Derby autumn meeting to-day the Prince of Wales handicap steeplechase was won by the Prince of Wales' Aged Magic.

SIR RICHARD BAGGALLAY DEAD.

Rt. Hon. Sir Richard Baggallay, formerly Lord Justice of Appeal, is dead. He was 72 years of age.

The race for the Chatsworth Plate (handicap) of 500 sovereigns was won by Mr. C. Cleveland's 3-year-old bay colt, Albertus. The race for the Doveridge Stakes of 550 sovereigns, for 2-year-olds, was won by Mr. Abington's brown colt, Pioneer.

HEAVY RAINS.

The heavy rains of the past few days have caused floods in many districts of England.

BODIES AND WRECKAGE WASHED ASHORE.

Considerable wreckage and a number of bodies have washed ashore between Looe and Polperro in Cornwall during the last day or two. One of the bodies has been identified as that of Capt. Meyer of the German ship Theodore Ruger, from Hamburg for Sydney. Articles that have come ashore have also been recognized as belonging to both that vessel and to the Cunard steamer Nantes, with which the Theodore Ruger was in collision thirty-six miles off the Lizard. There is now no doubt of the total loss of both vessels, with most of the crew of the Nantes and a part of the ship's crew. The survivors who landed at Trouville include sixteen of the Theodore Ruger and two of the Nantes' crew. It is believed that all the others went down with their vessels.

DR. SMYTH'S APPEAL REJECTED.

DUBLIN, November 13.—The appeal of Dr. Smyth against his sentence of six months' imprisonment for conspiring to defraud the Equitable Life Assurance Co. of New York has been rejected by the High Court of Dublin.

Roumania.

OPENING OF PARLIAMENT.

BUCHAREST, November 13.—Parliament was opened to-day by King Charles in person. In his address, His Majesty said the Government's foreign relations were absolutely satisfactory. This was due to the prudent policy that had been maintained. All parties, he said were aiming to make Roumania a powerful element of peace and security. This attitude was the correct one, and as long as it was observed it would be a sure guarantee that Roumania will continue to enjoy the confidence of the great powers of Europe and the friendship of her Balkan neighbors.

Austro-Hungary.

THE HUNGARIAN LOANS BILL.

PESTH, November 13.—In the Lower House of the Hungarian Diet to-day the Government's bill for the conversion of Hungarian loans was passed by a large majority.

Bulgaria.

ATTEMPT TO ASSASSINATE PRINCE FERDINAND.

VIENNA, November 13.—A report is in circulation in this city that an attempt has been made to assassinate Prince Ferdinand, the ruler of Bulgaria.

The Dominion.

PROMOTING IMPERIAL FEDERATION.

MONTREAL, November 13.—An inspired dispatch from Ottawa appeared in the Gazette yesterday, saying that the Canadian Government has decided to invite the Australian and New Zealand Governments to send delegates to Canada at an early date to consider the question of trade relations and especially cable communication by way of the Pacific Ocean. In other words, after an agitation of nearly ten years, the advocates of imperial federation have gained their point and a movement is now fairly started to make the bond between England and her colonies more secure than ever by having free trade between the different countries under the British flag to the exclusion of every other country. This action of the Cabinet is a direct threat of retaliation by the Canadian Government against the United States, in that England's products and free trade principles will be sold and practiced right on the American border. In Montreal, among merchants, the Government's action is looked on as the first step toward obtaining for Canada and her manufacturers the trade of Australia and New Zealand, now held by English manufacturers and Americans. The Canadian Pacific Co. will next year begin running a line of steamers from Vancouver, B. C., to Australian ports to compete with the American lines from San Francisco. An Australian has recently been sent to England in the interests of the same company, looking to the establishment of a Pacific cable, which, of course, would have to depend upon the Canadian Pacific Railroad telegraph lines for connection with the Atlantic coast.

A MERCHANT'S DISAPPEARANCE.

Walter Gibbs, who kept a general store on Notre Dame street, is absent from the city. His liabilities amount to about $20,000 and yesterday a provisional guardian was appointed, and if he does not return by November 28, his estate will be liquidated. It is stated that he left for Boston Saturday night and took a large quantity of merchandise with him, with the intention of defrauding his creditors.

THE SAULT STE. MARIE CANAL.

OTTAWA, Ontario, November 13.—The contract for the construction of the Sault Ste. Marie Canal has been awarded to Hugh & John Ryan of Toronto and Brockville. Associated with them is M. J. Haney & Co. of Watertown, N. Y. The amount of the contract is $1,200,000.

INCREASED EXPORT DUTIES.

An order in Council has been passed increasing the export duties of pine logs from $2 to $3 per 1,000 feet, board measure.

CHAMBERLAIN-ENDICOTT WEDDING.

A Substantial Gift From the Bride's Grandparents—Other Presents.

BOSTON, Mass., November 13.—Mr. and Mrs. George Peabody of Salem, grandparents of Miss Endicott, Joseph Chamberlain's future bride, will not attend the wedding, owing to their advanced age, but will manifest their approval of the marriage by giving their lovely grand-daughter a check for a large amount. The coming wedding will be without pomp or display, two near relatives of Miss Endicott having died recently. The Endicott family have but few near relatives. Miss Clara Payson of this city, who will be present at the wedding, is a cousin of the bride. Mrs. Knevitt Sears and Mrs. Wm. Mason of Boston are aunts, both being sisters of Mrs. Endicott, and Mrs. G. O. Dexter of Longwood, Mass., is a sister of Secretary Endicott. Miss Endicott has already received a large number of valuable presents, including a diamond and sapphire necklace from her uncle in London. Mr. Chamberlain has given her a diamond and sapphire crescent for her hair, a pair of diamond and sapphire bracelets and a diamond ring. Her father has given her a diamond crescent. In addition to her personal outfit, including seven Worth dresses, Miss Endicott will carry to her new home in the Princess Garden, London, a complete assortment of household linen, each article delicately embroidered with her initials. This is in accordance with the old Puritan custom, when the contents of the linen chest prepared for the bride were by far the most important part of the trousseau and lasted for generations as an heirloom. The wedding tour, as previously announced, will be of seven days' duration, but so far as can be learned, the couple will not go to Salem. They will pass but a brief honeymoon in this country. Mr. Chamberlain has important business to attend to in England early in December.

Chamberlain's Mission.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

OTTAWA, Ontario, November 13.—It is stated in well informed circles here that Joseph Chamberlain is intrusted by the Imperial Government with secret instructions, looking to the possible opening of negotiations for a new fisheries treaty. Before returning to England, after the wedding, it is expected that he will take an opportunity to sound leading Republicans as to their views on the subject, in order to lay them before the Imperial Government in person. There is a strong probability that Mr. Chamberlain may bring his bride back to America after a short trip to her new home in England for a long visit in Washington.

THE BAR ASSOCIATION.

An Interesting Meeting Held Last Night—The Officers Elected.

At 8 o'clock last night in the east wing of the Court-house was held an adjourned meeting of the Bar Association, for the purpose of hearing certain reports read, and of electing officers for the ensuing term. About thirty members were present.

A report was read by the committee on the amendment of laws with reference to the law concerning assignments for the benefit of creditors, and also with reference to the securing of costs in cases of appeals from Justices of the Peace. The first was recommended for adoption, and the consideration of the second was postponed until the next meeting.

A report was read by Judge Thompson of the Court of Appeal informing the Association of the transactions of the International Convention for the Unification of Laws, held at Brussels, Belgium. Judge Thompson attended the convention and his report proved to be interesting to those who heard it.

A report was read concerning the transactions and discussions at the convention of the National Bar Association of the United States, which was held at Cleveland in August.

The following officers were elected before adjournment: President, Warwick Hough; Treasurer, J. Q. A. Ritchey; Secretary, Benj. Schnurmacher.

Surprising to Parents.

One hundred and fifty different styles of Suits and Overcoats for boys up to 18 years from $2.35 to $15, prices defying competition, in the great half-million-dollar consignment sale. GLOBE, 705 to 713 Franklin avenue.

GLORIOUSLY DRUNK.

An Attorney and His Revolver Attempt to Capture Union Depot.

Joseph M. Brown, an attorney-at-law of Charleston, W. Va., arrived at the Union Depot this morning gloriously drunk. He was very inquisitive and very abusive. First he proceeded to annoy all the police about the depot by asking them all sorts of questions and then abusing them. After having words with several different parties Brown entered the gentlemen's waiting-room and leaned on the news stand. He was requested to take his arm off the books, as he was disfiguring the covers. With an oath he drew a huge navy revolver and attempted to shoot Wm. Steinborn. The latter and another man wrested the weapon from him. Sergt. Hoagland arrested Brown and preferred a charge of disturbing the peace.

The Globe Is Always Lower.

Forty different styles of overcoats for large boys at $1.50, $2, $2.50, $3.50 and $5. Finest Baltimore tailor-made overcoats for boys up to 18 years, $7.50 to $15.

Burning Telephones.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., November 13.—In conformity with the order of the Federal Court 1,229 Pan-Electric telephone instruments were burned yesterday. The big bonfire means triumph for the Bell telephone people, but the $15,000 worth of property destroyed means a dead loss to somebody of $15,000.

THE SPOILS OF VICTORY.

NOW OCCUPYING THE ATTENTION OF LOCAL POLITICIANS.

Good Places at the Disposal of the New Governor—Sheriff Pohlman Will Remove a Batch of Democratic Deputies at Once—An Increase in the Prohibition Vote in the State.

LOCAL politicians are busy figuring on the new Governor's appointments. The complete defeat of the local ticket leaves them nothing else to figure on. The Governor's list includes the following places: Coal Oil Inspectors for St. Louis, Hannibal, St. Joseph, Kansas City, Springfield, and some smaller distributing points; four Police Commissioners for St. Louis; Warden of the Penitentiary; Insurance Commissioner, Recorder of Voters for St. Louis, Adjutant-General and Labor Commissioner, and two Police Commissioners for Kansas City.

Owing to a peculiar wording of the law the Governor cannot remove any of the present incumbents holding commissions extending over next January except the members of the Board of Police Commissioners of this city. Coal Oil Inspector Baggott has a commission which does not expire until next June. Recorder Williams' commission runs for two years. It is very probable that the new Governor will be presented with the resignations of the Police Commissioners, who might hold over if they wished to wait for removal. The policies of Vice-President Blair and the Mayor have long been at variance. Recorder Williams several months ago expressed his intention of resigning to devote himself to his private business, which suffered from his absence. The proposition made by Republicans to exert themselves to retain him in office will hardly prove welcome to the Recorder, who does not desire any partisan recognition.

It is said that Chairman Maffitt of the State Committee will push the claims of Congressional Committeeman Andrew F. Blong for the Recorder's place if Mr. Williams resigns.

IN THE LOCAL OFFICES.

Thirty-three Deputy Sheriffs under Mr. Harrington are figuring on a change of employment. One of the Republican bosses has said no Democrat can remain in office, and from his intimacy with the Sheriff-elect this declaration is supposed to be authoritative. Nevertheless several of Mr. Harrington's deputies are working to continue themselves in office two years longer. The places in the Sheriff's and Coroner's offices are the only spoils won in last Tuesday's election. Coroner-elect Frank has the appointment of a Deputy Coroner, a Superintendent of the Morgue, a clerk and an Assistant Superintendent of the Morgue. He also designates the cases in which post mortem examinations shall be held, at $15 each, and selects the physician who holds them. The three Judges of the Circuit Court have the selection of their court clerks, but changes are not frequently made in these positions. The Public Administrator appoints one assistant. This is the list of offices to be distributed by the officers elected on last Tuesday. The new Sheriff will only displace one-half the force of deputies on taking hold, retaining the balance to initiate the new deputies.

ELECTION EXPENSES.

What It Costs the City for Judges, Clerks and Polling Places.

The judges and clerks who served at the election last Tuesday will be paid at the City Hall next Monday. The pay-roll has just been finished and sent into the Auditor. The bill for judges, clerks and polling places amounts to $3,461. Of this $2,736 goes for six men at each of the 152 polling-places, and the remaining $725 for 151 polling-places, rented at $5 each, there being one at the court-house for which no charge is made. To get the $3 for a day's work of thirteen hours the judges and clerks must call at the Recorder of Voters' office and there sign an identification slip. The signature is then compared with the signature made by officers of election in the poll books. If they agree the official seal is put on the slip and marked O. K. by the deputy. This slip is cashed at the City Treasurer's office.

FRANCIS' PLURALITY.

John J. Daly Says Secretary McGrath Estimates It at 10,000.

John J. Daly, who returned from a visit to Jefferson City this morning, told a POST-DISPATCH reporter that he left Secretary of State M. K. McGrath and Maj. Vogdes at 2 o'clock in the morning in the Secretary's office figuring on the election returns for Governor. "McGrath says Francis' plurality will be between 10,000 and 12,000 votes," said he. He thought at first that it would be closer to 15,000 than to 10,000, but he has changed his opinion. Francis' majority, he says, will not be any larger than Marmaduke's, if it is as large. If the returns keep coming in as they have so far as heard from, he won't have any majority at all."

THE PROHIBITION VOTE.

Fisk Gains 1492 on St. John's Vote in Missouri.

The election returns from the State show that the vote for Fisk, the Prohibition presidential candidate, is more than twice as large as that cast for St. John in 1884. Thirty-seven out of seventy-seven counties give Fisk a total of 2,672 as against 1,180 received by St. John in the same counties last year, a clear gain of 1,492 votes.

The returns as far as received are as follows:

Counties.	Fisk, 1888.	St. John, 1884.
Barton	116	1
Bates	169	103
Buchanan	80	0
Callaway	16	3

City of St. Louis	185	78
Totals	2,672	1,180

In the seventy-seven counties yet to be heard from the Prohibition vote is estimated at 2,078, making a total of 4,750 for Fisk, as against 2,153 four years ago.

JOYFUL REPUBLICANS

Celebrate Their Victory With Speech, Music and Song.

There was a large gathering of Republicans at Music Hall, last night, to take part in the jubilee meeting, which was organized by Mr. J. C. Orrick of the St. Louis Republican Club. The hall was well filled with Republicans, who assembled to give vent to their feelings. The first speaker was Mr. Charles E. Pearce. At the conclusion of a few congratulatory remarks he introduced "our standard bearer in the late conflict," Mr. E. E. Kimball. He spoke for a few moments only, concluding with an inquiry for George William Curtis and Chester H. Krum.

Congressman-elect F. G. Niedringhaus returned thanks to the Republican party and the press.

Congressman-elect Nathan Frank found cause for congratulation in the victory of Republicanism, and the fact that race prejudices appealed in vain to the enlightened elector of to-day and could not be used to defeat the party which would bring prosperity with its administration.

Congressman-elect Wm. M. Kinsey of the Tenth District followed Mr. Frank. Chas. R. Pope recited "Sheridan's Ride." Short speeches were made by Messrs. Richard Barthold, Henry Ziegenhein, C. H. Tandy, Matt G. Reynolds, Geo. D. Reynolds, Charles Parsons, C. I. Filley, Thos. Fitch, D. P. Dyer, Emile Preetorius, D. P. Slattery, Cornelius MacBride, W. J. Masterson and G. W. Bryant. E. H. Dunbar and E. A. Becker enlivened the programme with campaign songs and parodies. The meeting adjourned with cheers for Harrison and Morton.

A Union Labor Celebration.

When a meeting of about 250 members of the Union Labor party was called to order last evening at 604 Market street, speeches were made congratulating the party on the election, through Republican assistance, of members of the Legislature in three districts. Congratulatory letters were read from Messrs. C. H. Sampson and Jacob Klein. W. H. Blake, who was offered the committee nomination for Governor, spoke on the evil of employing child labor and presented it to the newly elected members of the Legislature for their consideration.

A Self-Sacrificing Politician.

At the regular weekly meeting of the Hendricks Association last night Paddy Brennan, who was elected to the House of Delegates in the Eighth Ward by a majority of 2, was the orator of the evening. He said that he would have cheerfully borne defeat if it could have brought success to Cleveland and the local ticket.

Serenading a Legislator.

Mr. George A. Hoose, one of the newly elected Union Labor Representative of the Third Legislative District, was tendered a serenade last evening at his residence, No. 2841 Franklin avenue, by his many friends. After a few enlivening airs on the outside Mr. Hoose threw open his doors and invited the company in. Once on the inside the serenaders proceeded to regale themselves. Speech-making was indulged in by Messrs. George A. Hoose, W. H. Blake and Philip Coghlan, Sr. The songs of George Chamberlain and James O'Malley received merited applause. Prof. Joe McKenna's orchestra furnished some excellent and appropriate music.

Gen. Harding for Adjutant-General.

State Railroad Commissioner Downing came down from Jefferson City this morning on a political mission. He informed some friends at the Laclede that Gen. Harding, the retiring member of the Railroad Commission, was an applicant for appointment as Adjutant-General of the State Militia. Downing, it is reported, called on Governor-elect Francis to-day and presented Harding's claims for the place.

Jim Cronin's Defi.

Jas. H. Cronin, who was the Democratic candidate for the Legislature in the Second District, called at the POST-DISPATCH office this afternoon to deny the statement that he has been charged with making at John Cooney's saloon on Main and Mullanphy, to the effect that he could whip any man in the Fourth Ward. "I never said anything of the kind" said Mr. Cronin "and Mike Walsh had no right to say so. But I'll bet $100 to $25 and put up the cash that I can lick Walsh at any time or place."

Political Notes.

The Eighth Ward Cleveland and Thurman Club will meet to-night as usual.

Members of the Republican Club of the Nineteenth Ward will meet at the Club rooms, 1324 Market street at 8 o'clock Thursday evening.

CHECKED THE WORK.

The Street Commissioner Orders the Postal Co. to Stop Stringing Wires.

The Postal Telegraph Co. has been compelled for a time to suspend the operation of putting up their wires to the new office they intend opening on Olive street. Yesterday and to-day they were at work putting up their wires on the poles in the alley between Fourth street and Broadway and Olive and Pine. These poles belong to the Bell Telephone Co. and carry a number of their wires. The Postal company obtained permission from the Bell company to use certain arms of these poles for their wires.

The work was progressing favorably when Inspector Murray of the Street Department came along and stopped the work, claiming that the Postal company had not complied with the city ordinances governing the matter.

The question was submitted to Street Commissioner Barrett this morning for settlement, but he took the matter under advisement until the opinion of City Counselor Bell can be obtained. In the meanwhile the Postal Telegraph Co. will have to wait until the decision is rendered.

Axworthy's Confession.

CLEVELAND, O., November 13.—Mayor Babcock has just received a letter dated Montreal, October 2, signed by Thomas Axworthy, the former City Treasurer. In the letter he explains that when he went to collect large sums which he had loaned upon the advice of some of Cleveland's most prominent men he found that it could not be repaid. Finding that all was lost, he left for Canada. He has made arrangements to turn over to the city all of his property, amounting in value to about $379,000.

The Judge Discharged Him.

William Niedrick, a saloon-keeper who was fined for keeping a vicious dog, was tried before Judge Noonan to-day in his appeal. His boy entered his yard with a boy named Hayes, and unchained the animal. Niedrick's boy told the Hayes boy to hold the dog while he got something. The Hayes boy did so and was nearly eaten up by the animal. Judge Noonan discharged Niedrick, holding that the boy was bitten on the defendant's premises and through no fault of the latter.

He Wasn't the Manager.

A man about 30 years, named W. H. Langdon, claimed to be the manager of the Mound City Cab Co. and engaged Lawrence M. Low of No. 1433 Second Carondelet as collector. Low put up $10 as security and now Low has learned that Langdon is a fraud.

Shot by a Negro.

Ex-Police Officer Michael Mulderig, residing at No. 2639 Chouteau avenue, had a dispute on Jefferson and Chouteau avenues with an unknown negro at 1:30 this morning and the negro drew a revolver, fired and wounding him dangerously. The assailant escaped.

North St. Louis.

Ben Mitchell, a chronic idler, was assessed $25 in the Second District Police Court to-day. Jane Loader, a disreputable woman, was fined the same amount.

James Ward, alias "Crazy" Ward, was before the court to settle up for a disorderly drunk, but owing to a sham-fit that he feigned when his case was called, he was held to appear to-morrow.

Justice Manning tried an assault and battery case yesterday against Michael Brickley and Mary Brickley, his wife, which was brought by Edward L. Kruger. From the evidence it appears that in the skirmish Mr. Kruger broke the lady's arm. Mrs. Brickley was discharged and her husband was fined $3. They have secured a warrant against Kruger, who will be summoned before the Court of Criminal Correction.

A curious suit was tried before Justice Manning a few days ago in which Frederick George, Sr., of No. 1552 North Second street sued his sons, Frederick George, Jr., for $68 and William George for $42.35 for board and lodging. To offset this the sons brought in a bill for $117 that they had paid out in funeral expenses for their mother, who died some time since. The evidence showed that the young men were in the habit of buying their own provisions, doing their own cooking and house-cleaning. The decision was rendered yesterday in favor of the defendants, and they refused to push the case against the old man for the funeral charges. Leander J. Smith represented the father, while E. C. Dodge conducted the case for the sons.

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

DELEGATES TO THE TWELFTH ANNUAL ASSEMBLY CALLED TO ORDER.

The War on Powderly—Schilling, the Socialistic Delegate, Admitted—No Serious Contests—Barry Ordered Out of the Hall—The Jarrett Boom Weak—Business of the Morning Session Disposed Of.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., November 13.—About the hotel corridors this morning the delegates to the Twelfth General Assembly of the Knights of Labor were busily engaged discussing matters of interest and importance to the order. General Master Workman Powderly arrived early this morning and was at once taken to breakfast, after which he was closeted with Acting Secretary Hays and other members of the Executive Board, until the time of meeting. Conspicuous in the lobby of the Grand Hotel was Thos. B. Barry of Michigan, leader of the fight against Powderly. He talked freely, accusing the present members of the board of extravagance, mismanagement, the employment of persons not members of the order and of other things heretofore published, very generally and more fully. He showed a letter sent him at his home in East Saginaw, Mich., giving hotel rates and other information regarding the General Assembly. On the corner of the envelope and in the same writing as the address was the note: "Expelled by G. E. B." He was very indignant at this and said he could make the sender suffer in the courts if he so wished. Talk of John J. Jarrett as a possible successor to Powderly caused the delegates a great deal of amusement in view of the fact that no one but delegates are eligible to election, and Mr. Jarrett does not happen to be a delegate. In fact, some doubt whether he is a true member of the organization. W. T. Lewis of Pittsburg is about the only person spoken of as an opponent of Powderly for the chief place, and his opposition may not materialize to any great extent.

THE MEETINGS.

The meetings of the General Assembly are to be held in Mansur Hall, a small room near the Court-house used as a G. A. R. post room. It was provided with extemporized pine tables for the use of the delegates, who were seated around them. At one end of the hall were desks and chairs for the general officers. By 10 o'clock the delegates began to assemble, and on their tables and chairs found a concise little K. of L. catechism of use in educational work and a circular regarding the trouble in District Assembly 49 of New York. This circular gave the proposal of one faction for a settlement and the action taken by Quinn and party when it was sent to them. The plan was that all of the suspended officers and local assemblies be reinstated, that all officers in the two organizations resign, that a new election be held and that a complete new set of officers be elected (those having held office in the two sections being ineligible), that each section select one-half delegates to the General Assembly. This proposal was handed to James E. Quinn, who was presiding over his section, November 4, 1888, and having been read, on motion it was "ordered to be filed as a curiosity, thus showing plainly that nothing further can be done toward a settlement," as the introduction to the circular reads.

It was a quarter past 10 when General Master Workman Powderly rapped for order and requested all persons not regularly accredited delegates to retire from the room. The morning session will consider the report of the Committee on Credentials, and any trouble that is liable to arise from contests will develop at this time. There are three lady delegates who are in attendance, and besides there are other ladies present connected with the order.

About 125 delegates were in the hall when the session opened, and the total number of persons connected officially with it is about 150. The morning session lasted until 12:30 and was lively, but the work was all completed when the recess for dinner was taken. The report of the Committee on Credentials was at once taken up and considered. No great fight was aroused over the report, says the Press bureau, everything being decided practically as recommended by the committee. The cases demanding attention were more in the nature of protests than contests, some person or persons protesting against what they considered illegality in the appointment of delegates.

BARRY BOUNCED.

Schilling of Chicago was admitted, no case being made against him. In the case of District Assembly 49, the five delegates, headed by James E. Quinn, were admitted, it being held that at the time it was not proper to go behind the returns. Later on there may be a further contest, but that is uncertain. It was announced to the press representatives that "Barry was probably somewhere about the hall, but that his case caused no trouble." Mr. Barry was in the hall when the session opened. He endeavored to speak, but General Master Workman Powderly told him that having been expelled he had no rights there, and must go. He again tried, as he said, to say a word of explanation, but was compelled to leave the hall.

Having no serious contest cases on hand and being thus early organized for work this General Assembly is ahead of all recent ones. As one delegate expressed it. "It is three days ahead of Minneapolis and five days ahead of Richmond; and as all warring elements are on the outside, smooth sailing is expected from now on to the end of the session."

AMONG THE BROKERS.

A Dull Market—Stocks Sold and Prices Obtained To-Day.

Trading was decidedly inactive this morning and prices, with few exceptions, several points lower.

West Granite indulged in one of the drops to which owners of that stock are so well accustomed. Trading opened on the street at 62½, at which 300 shares were sold, followed by a transfer of 300 shares at 60 and 500 at 58¾. At 57½ over one thousand shares changed hands, and 500 shares sold at 55. On 'Change the market opened at 51¼, 200 shares selling, fell to 50, at which 200 shares changed hands, to 47½, at which 100 shares were transferred, and closed with a sale of 500 shares at 45. Some members of the Merchants' Exchange, who are not members of the new Mining Exchange, were greatly disgusted when they learned that they had been paying 55 for the stock at the time that it was obtainable at 47½ in the new rooms.

A telegram from the Black Oak received today gives the net result of the working of 10,800 pounds concentrates produced during the first half of October, $1,085. The assay value of 12,000 pounds produced during last half of October show same relative value, which shows the bullion output for last month to be $8,431, leaving a net profit, after deducting expenses for mining, milling, development, etc., of about $5,000. The stock was 52½ asked, 51¼ bid.

'Frisco was decidedly weak. The stock opened at 33¾, at which 300 shares were sold, dropped to 31¼, at which 200 shares were disposed of and closed at 30 bid.

Silver Bell manifested a good deal of activity, and rose in price; 200 shares sold at 23¾, and 800 at 25.

Concepcion was 18¾ bid; 20 was bid for Jumbo; 500 Pat Murphy sold at 18¾; San Pedro was 6½ asked, 6 bid; I. X. L. was 8 bid; Mary Foster was offered at 20; 100 Silver Age brought 82½; Small Hopes was offered at $1, Rena was 5½ asked, 15 was bid for Golden Era, 100 Golden West sold at 82½, Maj. Budd was 37½ bid.

The semi-weekly shipment of the Granite Mountain amounted to 20 bars, containing 33,000 ounces of silver and 17 ounces of gold.

THE PRESIDENT'S TERM.

AN ALLEGED STRONG AND GENERAL DESIRE FOR ITS EXTENSION.

Shrinkage of Business During the Presidential Campaign Estimated at $500,000,000—Mr. Depew's Views—Proposed Revival of the Republican Organ at Washington—Carlisle's Probable Defeat.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, November 13.—The shadow of a great national question which concerns every man, woman and child in the country begins to make itself visible. As a result of the stupendous loss inflicted upon the business of the United States through the great political struggle which ended in the election of Benjamin Harrison, a strong and general desire for an extension of the President's term of office has sprung up. It is said by those competent to form an estimate that the shrinkage in the internal commerce and industries of the United States in the past four months, which can be traced to apprehension, excitement and other conditions dependent upon the presidential campaign, amounts to not less than $500,000,000. This is not a guess, but is an estimate made by several eminent observers, one of whom is Chauncey M. Depew. Mr. Depew reckons the internal business of the country for four months at about $5,000,000,000 and is satisfied that there has been a loss of 10 per cent during the four months of the national contest. That is what it costs to hold a presidential election, outside of the immense sums spent directly in politics. Is it not time in the interests of the people to make these costly struggles less frequent? Shall the President's term be extended to six, seven or eight years?

MR. DEPEW'S VIEWS.

Of all the alert and experienced representatives of the business interests of the country perhaps no one is better known than Chauncey M. Depew. His long training as a lawyer and railroad president, together with the broad grasp of public matters for which he is so well known, make anything he has to say on so grave a subject as extending the President's term of office, interesting to the whole public. Your correspondent found Mr. Depew in his office and laid the matter before him. He had evidently been thinking on the same subject, for some of his remarks so indicated. Mr. Depew thought the subject over for a few moments and then said, slowly: "The cost to the country of the presidential election is almost incalculable. It has far exceeded anything ever dreamed of by the founders of the Constitution, and accumulates with each election. The only possible good in the disbursement of the vast sums which are expended is that the money circulates and is distributed and not lost. But for the much larger sum which is permanently lost by the stoppage of business and labor there is no compensation.

"It is an under-estimate that the National Committees will spend half a million of dollars each, and individuals as much more. This money goes in the direct work of the canvass, printing, speakers, workers and the aged and the infirm voter business. Then the uniformed companies, with their music, halls, transportation and so on will use up not less than $4,000,000 more. There are frequent suspensions of various industries and a general check up on expansion and enterprise. Mill owners and merchants keep close within necessary demands, waiting for the policy which the result may determine. New enterprises halt and partially completed ones go slow. The internal business of the country which would be done in the four months of the presidential campaign would amount to about $5,000,000,000 under normal conditions. Ten per cent of this is stopped owing to the uncertainty as to the effect upon trade of the different policies of the parties and the doubt of the result.

THE REMEDY.

"The best remedy seems to be an extension of the term of the President and to make him ineligible for a second term. The objection to this is that the enormous power of the veto would enable the Executive to thwart the will of the majority of the people for years after it had been definitely ascertained, as it takes a two-thirds vote in Congress to override the veto. With a little over one-third in either house he could defeat and postpone measures which the vast majority of the country ardently desired. This might be remedied by restricting the veto so that it could be overridden by a majority of all the members elected to each House. A longer term for the President under this and some other modifications which time and argument would suggest is a very desirable reform for our electoral system."

"What is the effect of the present short term upon the President himself with respect to his usefulness in forming a policy for the Government?"

"The Presidency of the United States is a business like every other thing. If the President has not had sufficient opportunities for study and experience I should say that for the first three years of his term he is going to school, and as he must act while he is learning, the country and its commercial interests are necessarily the victims of his experiments. I think, however, that the people should elect only men who have been tried in public affairs and whose competency to deal with them has been demonstrated. No term could be long enough to educate an ignoramus."

"How much should the President's term of office be extended, Mr. Depew?"

"Six years would be a good term."

"You are in favor of that?"

"With the restrictions I have mentioned, yes."

An Administration Organ Needed.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 13.—One of the first results of the election is likely to be the reviving of the National Republican. When it was consolidated with the Washington Post in the spring it retained its weekly issue under the editorship of Mr. E. W. Fox, although the Post and the Star have a cast-iron contract with the Associated Press and the United Press, yet by holding on to the weekly issue the National Republican retained some news rights. It is hardly likely that the Administration will do without an organ here in Washington, and it is surmised that if there is not wit enough in the Republican press of the country to get around or over the agreement with the two press associations, another association, or the shadow of one, will be formed. But Republican newspapers in Washington have always had a sad end. They have tried with good editors and bad editors and no editors at all and have always failed. Sometimes the Republican has been a good newspaper, but the expenses have eaten up all the profits. Again, it has been a bad newspaper and nobody would either buy it or read it or advertise in it. Washington's geographical position makes it a Democratic town, and it shows it by never supporting a Republican newspaper. Old stayers like Senator Chandler, who at one time put up $30,000 to keep the Republican from going under, take a very philosophical view of it. They don't expect the Republican to make money, but they expect it to lose as little as possible. There will be enough money forthcoming, if the news end of the affair can be arranged, to revive the paper and keep it going as an organ. But there won't be enough to create a paper, and a Republican newspaper in Washington will be like a salmon in a gravel walk, as Mr. Henry Labouchere puts it. Even a tinge of mugwumpery caused the collapse of the Post as an experiment. The people who took it last summer took it on trial, and turned it into an independent sheet, with a strong flavoring like a Terre Haute or a Peoria or a Keokuk journal. They were glad enough to hand it back to the original founder of the Post, Mr. Stilson Hutchins.

West Virginia's Vote.

PITTSBURG, Pa., November 13.—The Chronicle-Telegraph's Wheeling, (W. Va.,) special says: The all-important official count in the Mountain State has not yet been completed, and until it is no one will know definitely whether Goff or Fleming is elected Governor or whether the electoral ticket is Republican or Democratic. The majority can not be more than 200 or 300 either way. The Republican State Committee has raised its estimate from 125 and 200 to the above figures as its claim, while the Democratic Committee has reduced its estimate 100. The Democratic claim to-day is from 400 to 500. It will probably be the latter part of the week before the official count is completed. Judge Fleming, Democratic candidate for Governor, has demanded a recount of the Kanawha returns, which county reported a majority for Goff of 1,500. In the recounts so far no important errors have been discovered. What trifling gains are made by one party are offset by similar gains for the opposing side. The returns now in justify the belief that there will be no material difference in the totals between the Republican State and national tickets, as Goff did not run so much ahead of his ticket as was at first reported.

The Oklahoma Election.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., November 13.—The Oklahomaites in No Man's Land held an election November 6, everything going largely for territorial government and for the Springer Oklahoma bill. Returns have only been received from the two eastern counties. They show about 500 majority for O. G. Chase for Congress and the election of the entire Territorial Council ticket favoring the Oklahoma bill. The five western counties are expected to add from 500 to 1,000 votes to the above majorities for territorial government. The Kansas annexation schemers refused generally to vote, but those who did vote tore off the head of the ticket, which read as follows:

"Territorial Government—Repudiating all other platforms, we ask for territorial government, schools, Federal Court and United States Land Office within the boundaries of the public land strip as other territories have.

"For Delegate to the Fifty-first Congress—O. G. Chase of Beaver City."

The Rucker Story.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 13.—In regard to the report telegraphed to a New York paper from Denver, Colo., purporting to give the substance of an interview in which President Cleveland is represented to have told Judge Rucker of Colorado, before the election, that Hill and Hewitt were both against him and that he was going to be beaten, Col. Lamont said last night that there was no truth in the story. He did not even remember that Judge Rucker had visited the White House.

THEY BEGAN TOO LATE.

A BEER-DRINKING CONTEST THAT WILL NOT GO ON RECORD.

Charles Ordwein and Italian Dave Drink for $20 a Side—The Contestants Out of Condition — A Much-Talked-of Match Winds Up With a Score of 11 to 4.

HABITUES of Ordwein's Cafe have been anticipating a beer-drinking contest which has long been on the tapis with a great deal of glee. Charles Ordwein is proud of his ability to put beneath his vest a large load of the foaming beverage and he has repeatedly expressed the opinion that none of his customers could succeed in drinking more beer than he can put away in a given space of time. "Italian Dave," a lemon seller, who is especially fond of beer, can down a good deal of it himself, and for weeks past he and Ordwein have been bantering each other about their respective capacity. Each has declared the other to be a boaster who had no just ground for laying claim to the championship of the cafe, and one night about a month ago they agreed upon a match. The date was not fixed, but the rules and regulations were decided upon and that it should take place soon. The agreement was that they should appoint a referee who should watch the match from start to finish and decide which won, his decision to be final. They were to drink in the presence of each other and start at the same time; the glasses should contain solid beer to within one inch of the top and be served every three minutes. Each contestant should have the right to occupy the three minutes until the next glass was brought in drinking his beer, but if it was not all consumed when the three minutes expired he was to forfeit the match. The winner, of course, was to be the one who drank the most beer. Such a contest is a dangerous one to enter, for after an hour or so the drinkers may begin to feel the effects of their frequent potations, and though their receptivity has not been entirely overcome they are liable to ignore the limitation of time and let the three minutes slip by without applying themselves to the work in hand, in which case they lose, though their capacity, which is the issue of the test, may not have been half exhausted. However,

IT WAS DETERMINED

ORDWEIN AND DAVE

thoroughly understood the danger of the situation when they agreed to the match, and they were only waiting a favorable opportunity to carry out the conditions of their agreement. The people who visit the place have made frequent inquiries about the date in order to keep posted, so they might be on hand when it took place. A march was stolen on them, however, and the match come off last night, but they will be satisfied when they learn that it was a fiasco. Ordwein and Dave had been drinking beer all day and through the evening, but they did not meet until between 10 and 11 o'clock last night, when Dave went into Ordwein's saloon. Ordwein was just in a humor for him and Dave was ready to meet his opponent at anything. Ordwein proposed that the match should come off right then and Dave agreed. There were only a few present and they did not anticipate much fun for they knew that both men were already, as they were drinking while they discussed the question whether the match should take place at once or be postponed. At last it was determined that it should come off right then, and they went back into the restaurant, which adjoins the saloon and sat down at a table. The barkeeper received his orders, two glasses every three minutes, and they began. The first glass went down easily, and Dave took his second without any trouble, but Ordwein was evidently nervous. His suffering increased with the third, and when he downed the fourth he perished. Dave was in fair condition, however, and not content with winning the victory he continued until he had put down eleven and then gave up. The friends of these celebrated absorbents had looked for a heavy score when the much-talked-of match should talk place, and they will be sorely grieved when they learn that it fizzled out with a SCORE OF 11 TO 4.

FAST APPROACHING THEIR LIMIT

There is a probability, however, that the two men will be dissatisfied with their own feeble attempt and will meet again when their ability will not be lessened by previous libations. After the whole affair was over Dave claimed $20 from Ordwein and made an announcement that was news to the spectators. He said that when the match was arranged it was made for $20 a side. They had met and drank and he had won and he wanted the money. Neither Dave nor Ordwein were prepared just then to argue a point logically, but Ordwein remembered enough to refuse to pay the $20, though Dave grew vigorous in his demands. Ordwein said Dave had failed to show up on time, and Dave said there was no time fixed, but they agreed to take the match after they met that night. Ordwein said no, that was the regular match, and Dave was not there when the match ought to have begun. There was no way to settle it then, so the two men parted, and the knotty point was adjourned to a time when the feast of reason could have a better chance to get in ahead of the flow of soul.

FUNERAL OF JOHN KNAPP.

Knights of St. Patrick Will Attend It in a Body To-Morrow.

The funeral of the late John Knapp, who died Sunday night, will take place to-morrow at 2 o'clock from his late residence on Pine street. The remains will be borne from the house to the church of the Immaculate Conception on Locust street, where the funeral services of the Roman Catholic Church will be held over them. Thence the body will be borne to Calvary Cemetery and interred.

The Knights of St. Patrick met at noon today in Turner Adelheit Hotel for the purpose of taking action on the death of their fellow knight. The meeting was presided over by President T. J. Portis, with Mr. Thos. Morris acting as secretary. Resolutions of regret and condolence to the family were passed and a committee consisting of Messrs. Richard Eanis, D. H. McAdam, J. C. Normile, P. K. Ryan and J. H. McNamara was appointed by the chair to make arrangements for the knights to attend the funeral in a body. The knights will assemble to-morrow at 1 o'clock at Uhrig's Cave, and, behind a band, will march to the house and then follow the remains to the grave.

THE WENONA TRAGEDY.

Sarah Richardson, the Domestic, Under Arrest—Burkhardt's Wife Insane.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

STREATOR, Ill., November 13.—Sarah Richardson, the girl whose stepfather, Burkhart, murdered Banker Howe and wife, is under arrest and the feeling against her is cooling rapidly. She seems to have been so terrified that she was powerless to give the alarm. Burkhardt's wife, or rather consort, is almost insane, she having witnessed his suicide.

Missionary Council.

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 13. — The twenty-ninth annual session of the Missionary Council of the American Episcopal Church began this morning at the Epiphany Church in this city. At the services of morning prayer and holy communion, at which Bishop Tuttle of Missouri read the lesson, and Bishop Whipple of Minnesota delivered the opening sermon. About 250 delegates were present, among whom were many prominent bishops of the church. At the opening service Epiphany Church was crowded in every part.

DELLA MAUDE BAKER.

The Girl Refuses to Recognize Her Parents—A Very Sad Scene.

The girl at the Home of the Immaculate Conception has been identified as Della Maude Baker. Her mother and brother, George Baker, both identified her positively to-day. Mr. Robinson, the friend of the family who came here and advertised for the girl Sunday, returned this morning from Kansas City and went down to see the girl. Officer Denny McGuire went down with him. The girl was brought out and Mr. Robinson immediately identified her as Della Maude Baker. She indignantly denied that she was the girl, and said her name was Alice Thurston. Robinson insisted her name was Della Maude Baker, and the girl insisted that it was Alice Thurston. Mr. Robinson finally left, stating that he would go immediately to Fairbury, Ill., and notify the girl's father, W. E. Baker, postmaster of the town, to come here and see the girl. Mr. Robinson said he had known her from childhood and felt positive it was her. Still he would rather have her parents opinion on the matter. The fact that this girl had come here Sunday, November 4, and that Della Maude Baker had not left her home till the following day made him a little doubtful about the girl.

In the meantime the mother and brother arrived from Fairbury. They went down with Officer Dolan to the house and there saw the girl. She was immediately identified by both of them but she refused to recognize them. She insisted she did not know them and was not Della Maude Baker, but was Alice Thurston. As when shown to Mr. Robinson she remained very calm and collected. The description in the newspapers of her she admitted fitted her very exactly, but she still said she was not the girl. Her brother asked her why she had left home and she replied: "You know well enough, George," but even after this step refused to admit her identity. The brother returned to the Four Courts to report to the police that she was the right girl, but the mother remained with her. They will take her home this evening. The girl is just budding into womanhood, and her mind is said to be temporarily affected. Miss Mary Hoxsey, the President of the Sewing Society for Poor Children which meets at the Annunciation Hall, is entitled to the credit of having recognized the girl from the description of her in the newspapers. Mrs. Baker and her son state that Della left home Saturday, November 3, instead of Monday, November 5, as was advertised in the newspapers. This sets aside the discrepancy that has heretofore existed in the date of her departure from home and arrival here. There has been a reward of $200 offered for the girl. This, if paid, will be a welcome lift to the home, which is a worthy charity and is in need of money.

Late this afternoon Della Baker admitted her identity and stated at the dinner table that her mother and brother were related to her as they represented. She still refuses to state why she left home and does not want to return with her mother.

HALF A MILLION IN ASHES.

Destruction of Grain Stores—A Sleeping Car in Flames.

NEW YORK, November 13.—There was a destructive fire this morning at Watson's stores, extending from 150 to 156 Furman street, which are about midway between the Fulton and Wall Street ferries. People passing along Furman street at 7 o'clock this morning say that there was no fire to be seen, yet seven minutes later the whole interior of No. 150, in which the machinery of the grain elevator is located, appeared to be in a blaze. The property is owned by Col. Watson and leased to the Fulton Grain Milling Co., who had 350,000 bushels of oats, wheat and corn in store. After this building had been gutted the flames communicated to Nos. 152, 154 and 156, and before they were checked the interior of the stores were pretty well burned out. Thousands of bushels of wheat, corn and oats flowed down from the different stores and covered up half the street. The fire was prevented from spreading to Harbeck's and Roberts' stores adjoining. The cause of the fire is not known, but it originated somewhere about the engine-room.

The loss on grain is about $400,000 and on machinery $25,000. The loss on the building is about $100,000, making a total of $550,000. There is an insurance of $150,000 on the building and machinery, and, it is said, the grain is mostly insured. The engines were pouring streams on the ruins at noon.

A Sleeping-Car in Flames.

PITTSBURG, Pa., November 13.—While crossing the mountains coming west, early this morning, the Pullman sleeper "Aragon" of New York express train No. 9 on the Pennsylvania Railroad caught fire and before the flames could be subdued one-half of the car was consumed, together with the clothing of a number of the passengers. The fire was discovered about 4 o'clock, when the train was nearing Conemaugh. The passengers were quickly awakened, and half clad they rushed panic-stricken from their berths to the adjoining car. Meanwhile the fire was steadily gaining and it was feared the car would be entirely consumed. The porter, however, with the assistance of the fire extinguisher and several cool-headed passengers soon had the flames under control. There were twenty passengers on the car, but fortunately no one was injured. The passengers who had lost portions of their clothing presented a demoralized appearance when they arrived in this city this morning. It is supposed that the fire caught from the stove. The loss is not known.

Elevator Burned.

BUFFALO, N. Y., November 13.—The Wheeler Elevator was partially burned this morning. Loss about $200,000.

PERU'S ENGLISH DEBT.

A Plan of Settlement—Serious Misunderstanding With the United States.

PANAMA, November 5.—After six weeks of deliberation between the Cabinet, the President of the Republic and the Commissioner representing the British creditors in Peru, a proposal has been agreed upon embodying the basis of the contract known as the Grace-Aranibar, which will be submitted for final action to Congress at an extraordinary session to be called after the expiration of the present meeting, which by law terminates at the end of the present month. If all ends as is hoped and expected, the foreign debt of Peru, amounting to £50,000,000 sterling will be cancelled and the country thus freed from the embarrassing obligations abroad that so seriously hamper her advancement.

A serious international trouble is on between Peru and the Government of the United States. The circumstances are these: On the section that a house at Mollendo belonging to the Arequipa Railway, and was therefore the property of the state, orders were given to occupy it by force, although the building was declared to belong to a citizen of the United States. It was accordingly seized by a squad of soldiers. The United States Consulate was in the building and this was forcibly closed, panicked, the coat of arms removed and the agent prevented from entering his office for nearly a week. The American Minister at Lima, who protested against the seizure of the house, on receipt of intelligence of this aggression, cabled to his Government and was instantly instructed to demand an apology. The house was vacated after six days' occupation, but the Government peremptorily refused to make an apology, and rather upheld their proceeding. On this, the Minister telegraphed the intelligence of the refusal and the Department of State at Washington has ordered him to forward full particulars of the affair before taking further steps. The recently effected treaty between United States and Peru, as well as international law, secures from outrage and any sort of interference all consular archives and property, and unless Peru can show some more plausible reason than a mistaken assumption for violating the consular privileges, and that too in face of a warning protest from the Minister, it is difficult to see how the Government can avoid a serious misunderstanding with the United States.

Escaped From the Court.

James Fahey, who was held over to answer to the Grand-jury by Judge Noonan today in the sum of $1,000 for defrauding Chris Sehl, escaped from the deputy sheriff who had him in charge. The supposition is that he was left sitting on the bench when several other persons were taken down and when they had left he walked out of the court-room unnoticed.

CLOAKS.

IN buying cloaks always consider well these three all important points—first, fit; second, the goods and style; third, the price. Now we claim to have the best fitting cloaks in the city. Do you know that we are often told by our customers that while they may find cloaks that suit them as to style, etc., they don't fit and that they have come to us. Why, you might as well look for figs on thistle bushes as look for really good-fitting cloaks at the smaller houses here. It is not necessary for us to maul you and tug at you with strings to make our goods fit, and alterations are seldom, if ever, needed. That's a fact.

Our line of Jackets and Paletots range in price from $12.75 to $30.00. Our Plush Sacques are cut full and perfect and don't gape at the bottom. The lower-priced ones fit as perfectly as the $50 ones.

Seal-Plush Newmarkets, that fit, $38.75 to $125. Plush Wraps and Modjeskas, all sizes up to 48 inches bust, from $12.75 up.

Cloth Newmarkets in advance styles—that is, styles that will be here next year as well as the present time. The "Nadjy" is one of the most beautiful of its kind; the prices begin at $15 and go up to two or three times as high.

We do not set apart any one day as Children's Day, because it isn't needful—we have no old stock to work off, but we have the newest and neatest line of Children's Cloaks to be found—cloaks with shape.

All-Wool Beaver Shawls have just been received. Twenty-two different colors and effects. The price is $3.90. You can't match them at $5.00.

We guarantee fit, style, materials and workmanship as the best and prices as the lowest. Will any other house do this?

We are much pleased that you have read this.

ALL FALLING IN LINE.

THE EASTERN ROADS TAKE A HAND IN THE BIG RATE WAR.

The Erie Falls in Line and Makes Reduction on West-Bound Freight Similar to the New York Central's—Railroad Men Busy To-Day Meeting the Cuts—A Big Kick.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, November 13.—As telegraphed to the POST-DISPATCH the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad made a big sensation in railroad circles yesterday by a bold cut in their freight rates between here and Chicago, amounting to 33½ per cent. There are six classes of freight and the new prices are 50; 40, 35, 30, 25 and 20 cents per 100 pounds. The old rates were 75, 65, 55, 30 and 25 cents. The New York Central people claim that they were forced into making the cut by the conduct of other roads which had secretly cut their rates. There was a consequent loss of business and the road felt that it must make the cut to equalize matters. From what can be learned it appears that some six weeks ago the Pennsylvania road made a secret cut in their rates and later made an open cut of from 25 cents per 100 to 20 cents on grain, east bound. They promised, however, to restore the old rates and their time to do so expired some ten days ago and yet the new rates remained.

When the new schedule was issued yesterday the other roads made preparations to meet it. The Erie road was first to fall in line and immediately announced a similar reduction. The Delaware, Lackawanna & Western and the New York, Ontario & Western quickly followed. The Boston & Albany, Grand Trunk, New England, the Vermont Central and the Fitchburg will, it is said, meet it to-day; in fact all the roads announce that they will follow suit and an interesting rate war is likely to ensue. The Erie, West Shore, the D., L. & W. and B. & O. will claim their differential, which is a rebate. On the Erie it amounts to 5, 4, 3, 2, 1 cents per 100 pounds. The action of the New York Central is peculiarly significant from several points of view. The Vanderbilts are phenomenally conservative and seldom, if ever, take the initative in a railroad war. Then again, in a few weeks at the outside, the canals will be closed and the lake routes will be shut off from business. This will throw the bulk of the traffic to the railroads. Should any of the roads attempt further cutting there is no doubt that the Vanderbilts would fight to the bitter end.

Railroad Men Busy.

NEW YORK, November 13.—Railway men were busy to-day over work necessitated by yesterday's cut in rates on west-bound freight. There is wide dissatisfaction because of the cut. Vice-President Hegeman, traffic manager of the Lackawanna system, spoke rather freely. He said he would make no change in lake rates, the season being practically ended. The reducing of all-rail rates he thought very unwise, especially at the present time. He continued: "We have had all the business we could handle conveniently, and saw no reason for coming down just at the time when we had good reason to suppose we could make some money. Anything seemed to bid fair for a good winter's business, but now it looks as if we would not get a new dollar for an old one. I don't know how long it will continue. We may get together and fix it up soon, but under the new law we must give ten days notice of an advance."

The Castle Garden War.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, November 13.—Trunk Line Commissioner Pearsons war against the New York, Ontario & Western and Delaware, Lackawanna & Western roads, both of which withdrew from the pool at Castle Garden, still goes merrily on. Things have been going from bad to worse, till now it is declared that big commissions are being paid to boarding-house keepers for the sale of immigrant tickets, and that on Kansas City tickets, which cost $11.25, as high as $5 has been paid. As the connecting lines get $9.22½ of this, it leaves for the trunk lines and connections only $2.02½ for the haul from New York to Chicago. And out of this comes $5 in commission. In other words, the roads pay for the fun of carrying passengers.

Many other flagrant cases are cited. Tickets that are supposed to be on sale only in the Garden are being sold outside, and the trunk lines are breaking agreements by paying commissions. That these things exist is proved by the representatives of the two outside lines, and it is common property among railroad men. An official of the New York, Ontario & Western road said yesterday: "There is no doubt that our road and the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western would be willing to go into any arrangements, providing Commissioner Pearsons was left out."

THE CHATTANOOGA HOTEL FIRE.

Recovery of Three Bodies—The Pittsburg Mine Disaster.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., November 13.—Three bodies were recovered this morning from the ruins of Bryant's European Hotel, which was destroyed by fire last night. They have been identified as Eula Jones, white, a chambermaid; Maj. Jack White of Atlanta, Ga., and Thomas Moore of Bloomington, Ill. The latter two were guests. The young woman who was burned was caught by a falling timber near the center of the building. While had escaped and went back to recover his valise, but was caught on a stairway and slowly roasted to death. His clinched hands were filled with hair which he tore from his head in the agonies of his frightful death. Moore's body was charred to a crisp. Search is in progress for other bodies, but it is thought no more will be found.

Another Horror at Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, Kan., November 13.—It is very probable that five more of those injured by the terrible disaster will die. Search is still being made by miners from all the surrounding country, who are untiring in their efforts to do everything possible in that direction. Every chamber and corner of the mine is being thoroughly explored.

The most startling tragedy in connection with the mine horror was the death of Mrs. Bethune and her four small children. When the cage came up from the bottom of the mine with the charred and mangled remains of Louis Bethune, his wife, Marie, fell senseless into the arms of one of the bystanders. It was some time before she recovered consciousness. Without a word she turned away and sought the seclusion of her little cabin. Her five children, the oldest a girl of 9, gathered about her and did all they could in their childish earnestness to cheer her up, but without success. When bedtime arrived she put them all to bed, kissing each one good-night. The little ones, not old enough to realize their loss, went to sleep. But the oldest girl could not sleep, and tossed about in bed watching her grief-stricken mother as she sat before the fire with her face hidden in her hands. After a few minutes the mother roused herself and again kissed all the little ones. Her strange manner frightened the little girl, but she was too frightened to do anything. The mother then got the kerosene can, and saturating her own clothing with the fluid, poured the rest over the sleeping children. Getting a lot of old papers she lighted them at the fire and scattered the flames about the cabin. In an instant everything was ablaze. The 9-year-old girl struggled with her mother, but her burning clothes soon drove the child away. Making her way to the door the little girl fell exhausted and burned outside. Before assistance could arrive the mother and the four younger children were burned to death. The child who escaped is not seriously hurt.

A Train of Coaches Burned.

ATLANTA, Ga., November 13.—The northbound passenger train on the Richmond & Danville Railroad jumped the track near Toccoa, ninety-nine miles north of Atlanta, yesterday, and all seven coaches were destroyed by fire. Nobody was killed or fatally injured, but eight passengers were more or less hurt.

Wrecked in the Yards.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

GALESBURG, Ill., November 13.—The Santa Fe yards was the scene of quite a disastrous wreck, which happened at about 7:30 this morning, in which four cars of freight train No. 9 were derailed and badly demolished. Fortunately no one was hurt.

A Terrible Fall.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

STREATOR, Ill., November 13.—Joe Pickles, a miner employed at the Star Coal Co.'s shaft at Kangley, across the river from this city, fell down the shaft mouth this morning about 4 o'clock, falling into the water eighty-five feet below. The water saved him, although quite shallow, and while badly bruised no bones were broken.

JUDGE DENNY'S BREAK.

CHINA'S DEMAND FOR THE REMOVAL OF COREA'S ADVISER.

The Judge Writes a Letter Abusing the Chinese—Charges That He Had an Eye to the Main Chance—The Alleged Snubbing of Mrs. Cleveland—Bond Offerings —Washington News.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 13.—Judge O. N. Denny, the American adviser to the King of Corea, is in trouble. Judge Denny formerly occupied the position of United States Consul-General at Shanghai. He was appointed from Oregon and is widely known on the Pacific Coast. During the Arthur Administration Judge Denny found himself out of a job. The Corean King about that time was looking for a competent person to act as his own legal adviser. He preferred an American, inasmuch as America is the only first-class power which is not intriguing for advantage in the East, and the representative thus chosen, being free from all entangling alliances, would be the most fitting selection that could be made. The Chinese Government was anxious that Judge Denny should accept the place, which, without much solicitation, he did. The salary was $18,000 a year, while the rank and dignity conferred were second only to those of his royal master. Things ran smoothly for a while, but in an evil moment Judge Denny committed the folly of writing a letter to Senator Mitchell of Oregon. It was a very voluminous document. It was filled with abuse of China and Chinese officials. It related with great substantiality an infamous plot on the part of Li Hung Chang, the Chinese Viceroy, to murder the Corean King and install as regent a man who would serve as the pliant tool of the Peking Government.

The letter proved conclusively, from the writer's standpoint at least, that Cores, as far from being a vassal of China, was in reality quite as independent as Japan. All these and many other things equally irritating to the Chinese the letter included. On the 4th of last August the newspapers printed a two-column abstract of the letter. Some of the papers found their way to China, through the slow course of the mails and created, as might have been expected, a genuine sensation. Yesterday the telegraph announced that Li Hung Chang, who came in for so large a share of the American adviser's abuse, has demanded of the Corean King Judge Denny's dismissal. It is said at the State Department, where the matter seems to be thoroughly understood, that the Viceroy's request will be speedily complied with, if this has not already been done. The Coreans, if the State Department advices are correct, are already dissatisfied with Judge Denny. The story which reaches here through diplomatic channels is that he has used his position to ingratiate himself with the Russian Government, for whom he has secured an important trading concession along the northern frontier of Corea. Other evidences of the Judge's desire to advance his personal interests have also come to light at various periods, and the Viceroy's demand will furnish the Coreans the opportunity for which they have so long been waiting to rid themselves of him. But for his unfortunate letter Judge Denny might have remained secure in his present place for years. The understanding at the State Department is that Mr. Hugh A. Dinsmore, the American Minister to Corea, will be selected to succeed Judge Denny. Mr. Dinsmore was appointed from Arkansas by the present Administration.

That Snubbing Story.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 13.—The story that is going the rounds about Miss Sackville-West snubbing Mrs. Cleveland last week was denied at the legation last night. The episode is said to have occurred the day after election. Miss Sackville-West, accompanied by a member of the legation, was in a jeweler's shop on Pennsylvania avenue. While she examined some articles put upon the counter for inspection a lady entered the door to whom the gentleman made a low bow.

"To whom do you speak?" said Miss Sackville-West.

"It is Mrs. Cleveland," whispered the diplomat.

Miss Sackville-West turned around and saw the lady standing at the opposite counter, with her back towards her. "I am so sorry," said Miss Sackville-West, "that I did not see her face to face, as I should like to have spoken to her very kindly, because her husband has been defeated."

GUY NOT DEAD.

But Ready to Exterminate Byrd and His Full-Blooded Allies.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

GAINESVILLE, Tex., November 13.—James Harris, Auditor of the Chickasaw Government, arrived in this city to-day from Tishomingo, and brings news that Gov. Guy was not killed Saturday night, as reported yesterday, the would-be-assassin's bullet failing to hit him. This attempt to take the Governor's life so aroused his friends that over three hundred of them, heavily armed, gathered at Tishomingo yesterday to protect him, and Byrd, with 200 well armed men, also gathered near the capitol last night and went into camp. Auditor Harris and a few other Indians are here fixing themselves for the fray which they say will come off to-night, Guy having ordered his men to surround the Byrd party to-night at 12 o'clock and exterminate them unless they surrender without resistance. These Indians left at noon for Tishomingo to join Guy's forces, who they say will number 700. The non-citizens have espoused Guy's cause against the Chickasaws, who principally compose the Byrd party. Unless the United States Government interferes it will be a war of extermination.

United States Courts.

In the United States Circuit Court this morning the exceptions to the master's report in the case of the Central Trust Co. against the Wabash, St. Louis & Pacific Railway Co. were sustained. The Trust Co. was allowed $800 and Edward W. and Theodore Sheldon $1,500.

The Grand jury in the United States District Court has returned indictments against Wm. H. Marshall, for sending obscene matter through the mails; against August Peterson and Ernst Redmann for passing counterfeit money; against John H. Kuehler for representing himself to be a United States officer; against Martha McClarion for sending obscene matter through the mails.

The transcript from the Circuit Court in the case of Stanley B. Sexton and others against Henry E. Seelve and others has been filed in the United States Circuit Court.

There was a final decree on demurrer, dismissing the bill, in the case of Thos. Trantham and others against D. S. Deaderick, before Judge Thayer.

The Yellow Fever.

DELAND, Fla., November 13.—While there has been no yellow fever at this point, still, owing to its prevalence in other parts of the State, the trustees of Deland University have thought it wise to postpone the opening of the college year. The announcement is made today, however, that the university will open on Tuesday, December 4, and continue for three full quarters of the school year. It is believed that all possible risk from yellow fever in the State will have disappeared before that date.

Monticello Students Meet.

A meeting of the alumni of the Monticello Seminary was held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in the ladies' parlor of the Lindell Hotel. The object of the meeting was to raise the sum of $200,000 with which to rebuild the seminary at Godfrey, Ill., which was lately destroyed by fire. Among those present were: Miss H. N. Haskell, Principal of the school; Mrs. John W. Allen, President of the Alumni; Mrs. F. W. Hodley, Vice-President; Mrs. Geo. Parker, Secretary and Treasurer; Mrs. Judge Dennison, Mrs. H. G. Niden and Mrs. J. C. Kellogg of St. Louis; Mrs. A. K. Root and Mrs. E. P. Wade of Alton, Ill., and Mrs. J. M. Pierson and Miss Nora Pierson of Godfrey, Ill.

Dr. McNary Released.

An inquest was held to-day on the body of Patrick Flynn, who died at No. 523 Morgan street yesterday. He was being treated by Dr. Robert B. McNary, who not being a registered physician, was arrested. Coroner Frazer immediately ordered McNary's release. The latter is down in the world now, but Dr. Frazer states that the man is an eminent physician and the author of some medical works of great value. It was found that Flynn died of alcoholism.

An Arab Runs Wild.

An Arab patient at the City Hospital while delirious escaped from that institution to-day and ran as far as Lafayette park, where he was arrested.

East St. Louis.

The City Council adjourned to-day to Saturday.

The house of Rufus Finch of French Village was burglarized last night. Loss, $10.

Mrs. Mary Stoeckle filed suit in the City Court for divorce from her husband, Jacob Stoeckle, for maltreating her.

Obituary.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

CLARKSVILLE, Mo., November 13.—Mrs. Elizabeth Kirtley passed away at her home in this city last night at the age of 66 years. For many years she has been an invalid. She leaves many relatives and friends to mourn her loss.

REAL ESTATE.

Fairly Active Market—Sales Made by the Agents To-Day.

Charles H. Turner, as special commissioner, sold the three-story brick building 307 North Seventh street and 27x127½ feet of ground for $28,500 to J. J. Reybaum.

Daniel Hogan sold to August E. Potthoff a lot of 30x110 feet at the southeast corner of Hogan and Mullanphy streets for $1,800. The sale was made by Gus V. R. Mechin.

Samuel T. Rathell, President of the Harlem Heights Land & Improvement Co., reports the following sales of Lindenwood lots consummated by him last Saturday afternoon: Lots 34 and 35 in block 4976, north side of Euclid avenue, at $8 a foot to Edward R. Koenig; lots numbered 1 and 2, same block, at $8 a foot to Fred Geitz, and lots 11 and 12, of block 4976, on the north side of Euclid avenue, at $8 a foot to Nelson P. Sandling. In addition to this lots 36 and 37 in block 4976 were sold at $8 a foot to Jacob Thalz.

H. L. Cornet & Co. report the sale of a 33x124 foot lot on the north side of Sixteenth street, between Cass avenue and Mullanphy streets, for $1,800 from E. A. Climer to Jere McQuade, who purchased for investment.

A lot 25x162 feet on the south side of Finney avenue between Vandeventer and Sarah was sold by John E. Vogel & Co., at $50 a foot from Albert Gerst to Bernard & Proetz.

The new four-story business house, 411 and 413 Washington avenue, recently built by John C. Wilson at a cost of $28,000, was leased today for three years at a rental of $6,500 by M. A. Wolff & Co. to F. W. Frastz, the toy dealer.

The same counties give Cleveland 173,011; Harrison 144,642; Streeter 664; Fiske 3,490; Wood 175,338; Bridges 155,181.

Trans-Continental Association.

The Trans-Continental Railway Association met at the Southern Hotel this morning, Chairman Leads presiding. The election of an Executive Committee resulted as follows: J. C. Stebbs, W. T. White, Thos. Miller, J. W. Hanford, George Olds, C. S. Mallen, H. S. Marie, W. H. Newman and W. N. Sage.

A Merchant's Suicide.

NEW YORK, November 13.—Daniel Kersten, a dealer in shoe and leather findings at 2958 Third avenue, shot himself to death this morning in the store. His wife and children had left him some time ago and he lived alone in his store. He shot himself through the mouth and died instantly.

Belleville.

Samuel Ryckman and Edward Fitzmorris, charged with assaulting Mrs. Cornelia Kennedy, were acquitted to-day.

Marriage licenses were granted to-day to James Wilson, aged 21, of East St. Louis, and Miss Mary Luden, aged 21, of the same town; also to John Reppel, aged 27 of Marissa Township, and Miss Margaretha Griebel, aged 21, of Lenzburg Township.

CHING HING'S laundry, 2004 Franklin avenue, was robbed by boys of $10, two razors and two Chinese combs.

ALLEN NASH was arrested to-day on a charge of assaulting to kill Abram Woods.

India's Population.

We are so accustomed to think of the enormous population of India, says the Pall Mall Gazette, that we find it hard to realize that the excessive density of the population is largely local, and that there is still an immense amount of elbow room in our great dependency. This fact is well brought out in the new number of the "Statistical Abstract for British India" recently published. Of the total area, 864,000,000acres under the direct administration of England, only 162,000,000 acres are under cultivation, and the forests are credited with 40,000,000 acres, but there still remains no less than 80,000,000 cultivable acres as yet untouched by the plough. At the present time the population of British India is just 200,000,000 persons, and thus a simple sum in arithmetic will show that there is still room for another 100,000,000 people without any additional squeezing.

The indications for twenty-four hours, commencing at 3 p. m. to-day, for Missouri are: Warmer, fair weather; southerly winds.

AFTER the fight Republican fancy quickly turns to thoughts of spoils.

THE price of boss nominations and boss influence will be so low in St. Louis for some time to come that there will be no profit in the business.

IT may be remarked incidentally that the judges who were nominated by the Koetter's Hotel caucus will not have the redistricting of the city.

THE Keely motor may not succeed in running machinery, but it manages to keep up perpetual motions and commotions in the court-room.

THE meetings of the Hendricks Association must be about as cheerful as the meetings of "salted" mine owners when the "salt" is off the mine.

GEN. HARRISON is reported to have made a bet of $2 on the election, but as he bet on CLEVELAND, we venture the assertion that he will not lose any sleep over it.

NO BALLOT-BOX returns can alter the fact that the tariff is a tax, 90 per cent of which comes out of labor's current wages, whether any of it goes into the public treasury or not.

IF Sir CHARLES WARREN cannot do what is expected of him in his public office he can resign. We commend this manly precedent to the attention of the Democratic Central Committee.

THE Republican party has sailed through the storm of the campaign all right, but there is a breaker ahead in the shape of tariff revision which will worry the masters of the old ship.

INDEPENDENT party voters are just as effective sometimes in purifying politics as independent parties and tickets. It remains to be seen what the situation in this city will call for at the spring election.

POLITICAL revenges are generally in the nature of boomerangs and are too dangerous for parties to play with. But, to change the quotation somewhat, "fool party organs rush in where wise politicians fear to tread."

CLEVELAND beat HARRISON in Indianapolis and HARRISON beat CLEVELAND in Buffalo. Isn't it rather rough on the late distinguished candidates for the Presidency that they had to go away from home to get majorities?

"OUR PADDY," at his own ratification meeting last night, asserted that he saw Democrats peddling Republican tickets at the polls. Evidence is accumulating that Democratic voters were responsible for the Waterloo of the bosses.

SOME red-hot Democrats charge President CLEVELAND's defeat to the fact that he did not "turn the rascals out" fast enough. Prominent Republican newspapers are trying their best to make a party blunder of this kind impossible on the part of Gen. HARRISON.

IT is announced that the Republican leaders will have a banquet at Delmonico's in New York shortly. The wisdom of having the banquet after the election instead of before, as in the Blaine campaign, will be questioned by no one.

IT is only right to expect that a Democratic Legislature committed to the doctrine of local self-government will allow St. Louis the full measure of control of its local interests, and that fair-minded legislators will not impose extortionate and discriminating taxes on a part of the State already overtaxed.

THE failure of statesman BUTLER to carry his own ward cannot be attributed to the hostility of the law-breaking element. One of the planks in the political programme of Statesman BUTLER, one of the signs of his benevolence, has been his uniform kindness in going on the bonds of gentlemen who were so unfortunate as to have been interrupted by the police while fracturing the laws and ordinances.

THE Rev. JOHN SNYDER of the Church of the Messiah of this city contributes to the Sunday Globe-Democrat his views on the social propriety of our publishing the portraits of the season's débutantes, and says: "It is "safe to say that not a single one of these "so-called portraits was obtained by any "fair and socially commendable method." Ordinarily it is not safe for a clergyman to indulge in self-evident slander and falsehood, but in this case it is safe. Since the Rev. Mr. SNYDER abused the confidence of Senator CONKLING, reported his conversation at luncheon at a club and sold the report at space rates for money, it has been perfectly safe for him to depend on his imagination for facts in anything he wishes to say on the question of social propriety. But neither the readers of the Globe-Democrat nor those of the POST-DISPATCH regard the reverend eavesdropper as an authority on social propriety.

JUDGE THURMAN won his telephone case for the Government and people of the United States, if he was beaten at the polls. The Supreme Court decision overrules the demurrer sustained by the Circuit Court, affirms the right of the Government to set aside a patent wrongfully obtained and remands the case for trial on its merits. Thus at last is to be tested the legal validity of a patent, long sustained by collusive and evasive legislation, as in the case of the driven well patent, and we are now in a fair way to get a judicial determination of the question whether or not this Bell Telephone Co. has obtained its monopoly and its immense income by fraud. If nothing else had been done to justify the election of a Democratic administration four years ago the steps taken to restore unearned land grants to the public domain and to protect the public from monopolies built on a perversion of our patent laws would have been sufficient.

VISIONS of a foreign mission have wonderfully soothed and softened the animosity of Editor HALSTEAD towards the South and the Democracy. At the same time a recollection of former failures of that foreign mission to make the proper connection is wringing from Mr. HALSTEAD's paper expressions to which its columns have long been closed—expressions of doubt as to the infallibility of Republican administrations. The Commercial Gazette, which throughout the recent contest rang the fire alarms more loudly than FORAKER himself, and saw nothing but wisdom, virtue, and patriotism on the Republican side, and nothing but treason, corruption and ruin to follow Democratic success, is now actually threatening to relapse into its former independence. It says "there has "been a plentiful lack of statesmanship "in and for the Republican party since "the war," and trusts that the harrowing episode of being out of Federal office for four years has completed "the higher "education of Republican leaders and "followers." A great many expectants who fail to get office under the new administration will probably soon come to the conclusion that another "harrowing episode" will be required to complete the education of the leaders.

MARTHA.—1. Miss Coghlan will play at the Wednesday matinee. The prices will be the same as usual, 25 and 50 cents. 2. Her brother, who wrote the play that she is now starring in, was with Mrs. Langtry last season.

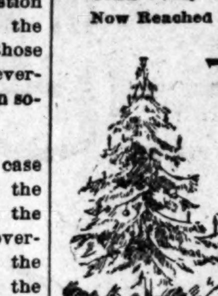

H. L.—Your friend may have had some good reason for not informing you sooner, and you should not refuse the position of "best man" at his wedding solely on that account. If you think or have reason to suppose that you are second or third choice in the matter the situation is different, but the first reason alone is not sufficient. The question is one which you can determine easier than anybody else.

LITTLE HELPERS AT WORK.

The Christmas Tree Fund Gets Bigger and Bigger Every Day.

Santa Claus and His Reindeers Will Have Lots to Carry Xmas Eve.

The Little Girls of Mrs. Perry's Sunday-School Class at the Lafayette Park Presbyterian Church Set a Good Example—The Many Letters From Our Little Contributors—One Who Sold His Pig—Some of Our Little Cousins in the Country Come Nobly to Our Aid—The Fund Has Now Reached $326.19.

THE interest shown by the little ones in the Christmas tree fund steadily increases, as will be seen by the number of letters and number of subscribers to-day, and we know that many little ones are going to have twice as merry a Christmas in return for the kind help they have given Santa Claus in his efforts to do for those that have no papa nor mamma to write to him for them, and what a load those eight reindeers will have to carry Xmas eve! It is a fortunate thing that it has been arranged that old "Santa" shall visit the poor little ones on the afternoon before Xmas for otherwise it is certain those reindeers would be overworked. It ought to give all the little ones that have contributed to the Christmas tree fund pleasure in thinking now many little hearts will throb more happily on Xmas eve, and all because some little one who has plenty has given of that plenty to make others happy. Such a thought ought to inspire those that have not given to give and keep those who are working for the fund hard at it.

The contributions to the fund from towns in Illinois and Missouri were quite large this morning, and the little people of St. Louis must look out and not let their little country cousins get ahead of them in helping to make happy the St. Louis poor. Every 5 cents that comes from out of town should have at least $5 ready to meet it in town. Little people, don't get left behind! We are ready to receive all you will send us and the more the better.

Another pleasant feature of this morning's contributions was that of the nine little girls in Mrs. Perry's Sunday-school class at the Lafayette Park Presbyterian Church. They sent in a portion of the money they had been saving for the poor. We wish the classes or Sunday-schools in other churches would follow the good example and collect what they can for the fund, for every little helps, and all large sums are very wecome.

Mr. Jno. S. Moffitt of the Richardson Drug Co., who has large experience in arranging and conducting charities of this kind, has been requested by the POST-DISPATCH to lend his assistance to the Christmas tree project, and he, with several prominent citizens whom he will ask to join him, will constitute an executive committee, which will have practical charge of the distribution of the Christmas tree fund. Mr. Moffitt and his committee will arrange a plan for the entertainment and all the details of the charity will have their indorsement before anything is done. Many ladies have offered to help and their services will, no doubt, be required.

Contributions may be sent to the "Christmas Tree Fund" POST-DISPATCH office. Toys or articles of clothing may be left at the POST-DISPATCH office.

The letters received yesterday afternoon are given below.

Send It Along.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

It has become public through the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH that my cousin Amelia sent you 30 cents for the Santa Claus tree. Now she did not say a word to me about it. I am three months old too—she is only one week older than I am, and I don't think she need put on so many airs about it, she can't get the bulge on me, so I inclose thirty (30) cents for that tree, and so I think I am even with her. Now if you think that ain't enough I can send more. My pa is O. K. His name is Dave Goldsmith and he is a lawyer, and my grandpa is a Loth of Loth & Sons, and he's well fixed and don't mind expense, and I feel they can back me; so don't be bashful, Mr. Editor (because I am), but if 30 cents more will increase the size of that tree, just say so, and it will be forthcoming. My cousin may be the oldest, but I want her to know that I have grit and she can't get the start of me. I am glad the tree will be at the Exposition building—it will keep the doors of that grand building open for a few days—it is such a pity it should be closed so many months in the year. Tell Santa Claus I shall be pleased to see him. My day at home is Tuesday and I am always home on the 25th of December. Come up with him and see yours in sympathy, SARA GOLDSMITH.

All the Children Will Love the "P-D."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I read in your paper about your Christmas tree for poor boys and girls of the city. I think that you are so good to think about them. I know that all the children will love you for doing this for them. I will send you 50 cents, and I asked my little nephew, Charles Reber, 18 months old, if he would give 50 cents out of his bank for the tree. He laughed and shook his head. That means he won't. I hope that you will have enough money to make all the poor children happy.

M. S. Buris	5	C. Toesel	15
Herman Roderfeld	10	Total	$1.06

Hopes We Will Raise $2,000.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I thought I would send a dime for the poor children's Christmas tree, and I hope this dime will make some poor child's heart glad when Christmas eve comes. I hope you will raise at least $2,000 for the tree. I go to the Boonville public school. Your respectfully,
WARD EDWARDS, age 9 years.
Boonville, Mo., November 11.

Thirty Pennies.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

You will find inclosed 30 pennies which please add to your Christmas Tree Fund for those poor children, who never have any Santa Claus. Yours, Grandpa's
LITTLE DUTCHMAN.

Sallie's Quarter.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I send a quarter to the poor children. I hope they will have a good time at Christmas time. I am 6 years old and live at 2733 Chestnut street. SALLIE CHRISTY DUKE.

More Good Wishes.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I am glad to be able to contribute to the Christmas tree fund. I inclose 30 cents, 10 cents of which my 10-year-old brother, Aloyse, gave and 10 cents from two of my little sisters, Kate and Tillie, aged 8 and 6 years, and I myself give 10 cents. I hope it will help to make some little hearts happy. Yours respectfully,
LAWRENCE FOREST.

The "Post-Dispatch" an Angel.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

You darling, and what shall I call you. My mamma says you must be an angel. You will make the poor little children so happy on Christmas-day. I send you 10 cents for the tree. Mr. Editor, if your money won't reach just let Uncle Sam know in time, he'll send you all you need. ANNIE LAMM DILLMAN.
212 Stein street, Carondelet.

Berthie Whispered.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

My name is Gene and I want to give you all I have got for the great big Christmas tree. I am 3 years old and my brother Berthie 1 year; He can't talk, but he whispered to me to send his 5 cents, too, and my cousin Bunne sends 10 cents; 20 cents from the three of us. Good bye, GENE AND BERTHIE HANSMANN.
BUNNE REIPPE.
2020 Gano avenue.

She Did Not Read About It.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Mamma told me about your Christmas tree fund for the poor children, as I did not see it myself. My sister Ada gave me 10 cents and I had 10 cents which I gladly give for the poor children, and heartily wish them a merry Christmas. From their good wisher,
JENNIE GREIG.

P. S.—My brother afterwards gave me a nickel which I send also.

Will Tell Santa Claus.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Please accept 75 cents of my savings for your Christmas Tree Fund, also 30 cents out of my two little nephews' bank. They are good little boys, and said you should tell dear Santa to bring them lots of toys and a big tree. I am 12 years old and my nephews 5 and 3 years.

Stanley's Second Contribution.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I sent you $1 a few days ago and inclose $3 more for the poor children's Christmas tree. Some of this money came all the way from Gardiner, Me., from friends who read the POST-DISPATCH and they sent me the money to give you. I told you that you would hear from me again. I hope every boy and girl in St. Louis will give something.

WHO WANTS A CHILD?

The Police Have One and Want to Get Rid of It.

Does anybody want a child? Little Cairn Dugan, aged 7 months, can be had for the asking. His father, Cairn Dugan, is a dairyman whose place of business is on the Bellefontaine road opposite the cemetery. Dugan, so his wife states, has refused to live with his family. He abandoned her and her child some time ago, and she has taken out several warrants against him for abandonment, but they were all dismissed because she has no settled place of abode and could not be reached by subpœnas. Yesterday afternoon she called at the Four Courts and procured another warrant against him for wife abandonment. She was accompanied by a woman to whom she had given the child. The woman had kept the two of them for some time, but stated that her husband would permit her to keep them no longer. She wanted to return the infant to its mother, but Mrs. Dugan said she had no place to keep it and positively refused to receive the child. The little one cried until it had driven to destraction almost everybody about the Four Courts. The woman who had the child kept after the mother insisting on her taking the child, but the mother kept moving away from her and refusing to accept it. Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Dierkes, the police and others were appealed to by the nonplussed woman to make the mother take back her child, but they all said they were powerless. The mother finally left without the child. To-day the woman was at the Four Courts with the infant. The child was crying and so was the woman. She could not get any one to take the child. The mother would not have it and no institution would receive it. Her husband told her she must not bring it back to the house, and she could not abandon it in the street die. The police said they would place it in St. Ann's Asylum.

THE RED-HEADED GIRL.

Her Hair Gets Her Up Before Judge Cady This Morning.

The red-headed girl and white horse fad was the cause of bringing two women into Judge Cady's court this morning. Irene Nelson, whose hair is a glowing red, and Nellie Torry, a ravishing blonde, are in love with the same man. Yesterday Nellie cried out for Irene's benefit: "There is that red head, where is the white horse?" Irene retorted by calling her a blanked blonde. Hair-pulling ensued, and both women were arrested. There were six white horses in front of the Four Courts this morning while the trial was in progress. The women were fined $5 each.

THE STATE LEGISLATURE.

AN IMPORTANT REVISING SESSION AT JEFFERSON CITY THIS WINTER.

Overhauling of the Statutes Made Obligatory by the State Constitution—How the Work Was Accomplished by Previous Legislatures—A Practical Re-Enactment of the Laws of the State Necessary.

THE session of the next State General Assembly which convenes at noon on the 2d day of January, 1889, will be one of the most important meetings of that body which has been held since 1879, when the laws of the State were revised and compiled.

The first duty of the Legislature after its organization and the election of its officers will be the inauguration of Governor-elect Francis and the other State officers, which will occur on the second Monday of the first month of the year, or January 14.

When this preliminary work has been disposed of, both branches of the Assembly are ready for the business of the session. Then will begin 120 days of incessant wrangling over the revision and re-enactment of all of the laws contained in two bulky volumes of the Missouri Statutes, and the five smaller volumes comprising the Session Acts of 1881, 1883, 1885 and 1887. On looking up the law which will guide the Legislature in this important work, it appears that Dr. Shields and several other equally well-known ex-members of the House of Representatives were wrong in their statements a short time ago, when they took the ground that was not obligatory on the General Assembly, but that they might exercise their own discretion in the matter. The section of the State Constitution which provides for the overhauling of the laws reads as follows:

Section 41. Within five years after the adoption of this constitution all the statute laws of a general nature, both civil and criminal, shall be revised, digested and promulgated in such manner as the General Assembly shall direct; and a like revision, digest and promulgation shall be made at the expiration of every subsequent period of ten years.

The "within five years after the adoption of the Constitution" provision in the above law was acted upon by the Legislature of 1879, the Constitution having been adopted in 1876, and was the last revision of the statutes. While the Legislature is not bound by any law, human or divine, and is superior to State laws as the creator of them, yet the revision will unquestionably be made as directed by the State Constitution.

The authority of the Legislature in the revision is unbounded, and their work is practically a re-enactment of a great number of the statutes. The object sought to be accomplished is to harmonize the inconsistencies and incongruities which have crept into the laws by the adoption of numerous amendments by successive Legislatures, and to condense and compile the statutes and session acts now scattered through seven volumes of enactments into a simplified form. The new laws to be framed by this General Assembly will, of course, be included and will affect some of the present statutes, and the statutes were first revised in 1825. The work was undertaken with success by H. S. Geyer and was published under the title of

"GEYER'S DIGEST."

The Legislature of that year revised Mr. Geyer's volume and adopted it as the Revised Statutes of Missouri.

In 1835 the General Assembly appointed a commission composed of three members, not members of their body, who accomplished the revision as directed and submitted it to the Legislature, by whom it was adopted. In 1845 substantially the same course was pursued as in 1835 with equally satisfactory results.

In 1855 the Legislature appointed ex-Gov. Charles H. Hardin, Thomas Richardson of Scotland County and J. W. Reid of Jackson County a Commission on Revision and adopted their report as the laws of the State. The General Assembly of 1865 appointed a similar commission, of which Judge Currier and Walter Lovelace were members. The work of this commission did not prove satisfactory, principally for the reason that they did not observe the alphabetical order which had been previously observed in the compilation of the statutes; but their report was nevertheless adopted. The confusion and unnecessary labor which devolved upon courts and attorneys by reason of the manner in which the commission had digested the laws led Judge Wagner of the State Supreme Court, upon his own motion, to attempt a second revision for the benefit of the bar of the State. His book was printed and finally adopted by the Legislature in place of the revision of three years previous.

WAGNER'S REVISED STATUTES

continued the law until 1879, when under a provision of the constitution of 1876, as stated above, the statutes were again revised. The course pursued on this occasion will probably be followed at Jefferson City next winter. It was found then that the Constitution prohibited a continuous session and that an adjournment of more than three days was equivalent to an adjournment sine die. There was also no provision by which the work of revision could be delegated to a commission as had been done by previous Legislatures.

Lieut.-Gov. Brockmeyer, who at that time presided over the Senate; Senators Hockaday, Wilson and Parish and Mr. McIntyre, Judge Dryden and R. C. Campbell of the House conceived a plan for the revision, which was agreed to by both branches of the Legislature and followed out to the letter.

A joint and concurrent resolution was adopted under which the following joint committee was appointed: Hockaday, Wilson and Parish for the Senate, and Dryden, Anderson, McDaniel and McIntyre for the House. This was the Committee on Revision. The statutes were taken up by chapters and the changes contemplated put in the form of bills. These bills were referred to the Joint Committee on Revision, who investigated the entire subject matter contained in the statutes to which the bill referred and reported it back to the branch in which it had originated. The measure was then re-referred to the proper House or Senate standing committee, who reported it back with any changes or amendments which they might see proper to make or suggest, and it then took the regular course of a bill.

The statutes and session acts were gone through with in this manner until the whole ground had been covered. This Legislature will very likely treat the subject in the same manner and the importance of the work will had additional interest to the composition of the standing and revision committees.

AN ARKANSAS SENSATION.

A Planter Arrested for Horse-Stealing and Abducting a Girl.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., November 13.—Late last night Deputy Sheriff Bass of Franklin County, in company with Officer Boyde, went down to Dr. Chenaultz' plantation, five miles below here, and arrested William Lee Macmahan, charged with horse-stealing and with abducting a girl. Macmahan raised a crop of cotton in Franklin County last year. During his residence there five valuable horses were stolen. The theft was traced to him, but before he could be arrested he fled, taking with him Linda Fletcher, a 13-year-old girl, who, it is said, became infatuated with him, and whom he has passed off as his wife. He was taken back to Franklin County this morning, together with the girl, who will be returned to relatives.

Boiler Inspectors' Convention.

PITTSBURG, Pa., November 13.—A call has been issued for the first annual convention of the Boiler Inspectors and Stationary Engineers' Association, to be held in this city next week. Delegates are expected from every city in the country. The convention will discuss the inspection service and plans for the protection of life and property, and arrange for a uniform system of inspection throughout the country, and, if possible, take means to prevent the sale of worthless boilers to ignorant people.

ROSE COGHLAN WINS SUCCESS IN AN HEROIC AND EMOTIONAL ROLE.

The Bloody Temper and Picturesque Heroism of "Jocelyn"—Attractions of the Week—Amusement Notes.

ROSE COGHLAN is known to St. Louisans chiefly as a comedienne, and a brilliant one at that, full of the subtle charm of personal magnetism and of bubbling, sparkling, spontaneous comedy, dashed with the spice—not exactly of the devil, but next door—of spirited femininity.

St. Louisans must enlarge their estimate of the Coghlan. They must bow to another triumph of the versatile actress. She comes now in "Jocelyn," almost in the guise of a tragedienne, and certainly as an emotional artiste of strong and heroic qualities and proportions.

There was not a very large audience at the Olympic for the first performance of "Jocelyn," the new play by the brother of the star, Charles Coghlan, but what audience there was before the drop of the curtain in the second act belonged wholly to Miss Coghlan. She had won it fairly, and it was shoutingly enthusiastic. Probably the play should be classed as a romantic melodrama. It is cast in France during the reign of Louis XIII. It was the seventeenth century era of religious fanaticism, blood, thinly veneered beastliness and chivalry on stilts. "Jocelyn" is the daughter of a proud Huguenot house, which is stripped of power and possessions. She has three brothers who look to her by a powerful alliance to renew the glories of the house. She is sought by an unscrupulous adventurer who has gained power through success at arms. He entraps and slays her brothers and succeeds in gaining possession of her, but is foiled in a plot to marry her while she is temporarily bereft of reason by Gaston Marcel, a foster brother of Jocelyn, who is in love with her and whose love is returned. Revenge is then the purpose of "Jocelyn" and Gaston who seeks it for her having been treacherously entrapped by Prince Saviani, the adventurer, she dons a man's clothing and slays the Prince in a duel with swords.

It cannot be said that the play is not in accordance with the temper of the age, but there is much that is cruel, bloody and unpleasant in it. From a dramatic standpoint, however, it is finely wrought out. It develops from situation to situation with growing interest and increasing power, one situation leading to another and all possessing intense force and dramatic strength.

While the most intelligent admirers of Miss Coghlan would undoubtedly prefer to enjoy her efforts in roles which would demand more delicate, finished and subtle work with less unpleasant surroundings, yet in its line her work is practically beyond criticism. She acts a woman in whom the rough manners and bloody temper of the times has developed a strength of character beyond average womanhood and who is yet thoroughly womanly and goes into danger with shrinking heart, yet nerved to every ordeal by love and devotion. The revelation of woman's weakness, linked with heroic courage in several of her strong scenes, is one of the finest strokes of the actress. Miss Coghlan impresses one as being strangely contradictory in herself. Almost masculine in many ways, yet she has womanly qualities and the warmth and spirit of temperament most attractive to men. It is this contradiction in her which seem to fit the role of "Jocelyn." There is a fine, vigorous spirit in the woman and in her work which comes as near the superb as anything on the stage. In the melodramatic situations of the play she reached every dramatic attainment required of her. Perhaps one of the finest pieces of acting was her assumption of courage in the apartment of Saviani, her breaking down and the horror of the death of her brothers. She handled her mad scene strongly also and fought the duel with a combination of manly dash and womanly weakness which was admirable. The merit of the play lies only in its situations and effects, but these are intensely dramatic and are constructed to secure the most impressive result.

Happily, the star is not the only actor in the play. The work of the company throughout is marked by intelligence and artistic strength and excellence. Wilton Lackaye as Prince Saviani impersonated a finely characteristic villain. He is quiet, but forceful in his methods and accentuated the character with a delicacy of shading and expression and with an admirable consistency to its conception, which made something of a masterpiece. There was a careless, conscienceless, yet shrewd diablerie about the character which marked it as a brilliant effort. John Malone, as Gaston Marcel, must be credited with intelligent, strong and effective work. Mrs. Chas. Watson was admirable as Mme. de Montaigne, and E. Thomas Webber as Michel, Verner Charges as Blaisois were artistic—in fact every part in the cast was intelligently handled.

There is not much attempted in the scenery beyond adequate scenes, but the costumes were strictly correct in every particular, and gave a thoroughly picturesque and pleasing setting to the play. There is no doubt that "Jocelyn" has the elements of a strong popular success.

Roland Reed has been accustomed to roles in which breeziness, brass and bluster have been the distinguishing characteristics. As Samuel Bundy, in "The Woman Hater," his aim is somewhat diverted. It is in the direction of greater comedy, which is eminently right on the part of Mr. Reed, but his habit of work clings to him somewhat. One of the most comical effects of John T. Raymond's Bundy was the impression of utter helplessness and hunted desperation—a sort of I-am-in-the-hands-of-my-friends-and-they-must-save-me attitude. Mr. Reed fails to catch this spirit exactly, and is more inclined to be aggressive and blustering. Still, his eccentric personality and catarrhal twang are amusing and his work is sufficiently effective to cause laughter. Mr. Lloyd has done clever work in the piece in the line of farce-comedy with the complications and entanglements culminating as the play progresses. Mr. Reed's company, Earnest Bertram as George Dobbins is natural and characteristic in his work, while among the best are George W. Leslie as Tom Ripley, and Harry A. Smith as Mulbridge, the others being decidedly mediocre and ineffective.

"A Night Off" is among the most amusing of the adaptations from the German for which Augustin Daly is responsible. It has the genuine farce-comedy spirit and out of trivial incidents and blunders most comical situations arise. One of the members of the company at Pope's is entitled to the credit of accomplishing as artistic and finished a bit of character work as one will find. This is Mrs. E. A. Sherie who takes the part of Zantippi Babbitt. Her conception and execution her impersonation is admirable. Another unctuous and characteristic piece of acting is the Marcus Brutus Snap of Chas. J. Burbridge. The Babbitt of George Gaston is not as full of suggestive vigor as that of Bertram, but it is natural and effective. Two attractive and clever young actresses have the parts of Nahe and Angelica, and the entire cast is satisfactory. The play keeps the audience laughing from beginning to end.

A large part of the attractiveness of Charles Erin Verner lies in his personal magnetism. He gets a grip on his audience and holds it. But aside from this his methods are natural but vigorous, and in comedy or the more melo-dramatic portion of his work he is thoroughly effective. "Shamus O'Brien" shows him to excellent advantage, and suits admirers of the Irish drama. Miss Catherine Walsh is at the head of the support which is fairly satisfactory.

Sensational melodrama in the shape of the American play, "Montezuma," is proving a drawing card at the Standard. R. E. French as a triple role in the story of the play, and he is supported by Eva Earle French and a large company. The play goes to an abundance of applause.

THE ANARCHISTS.

Inspector Bonfield Declares They Are Organized for an Uprising.

CHICAGO, November 13.—The Times says: Anarchy is not dead or even sleeping. On the contrary, it is more thoroughly organized than even at the time of the Haymarket riot, and its membership is larger than it has ever been. The demonstration of last Sunday at Waldheim was not a gathering of a few sympathizers of the friends of the dead Anarchists. It was the organized outpouring of the Internationals, who have thus arranged to come out and concentrate at any point agreed upon. Inspector Bonfield, who is known to have kept detectives watching every movement of the Anarchists the past few weeks, when asked yesterday if there were many Anarchists at the celebration, replied: "Yes, there were. Most of them were Anarchists."

"Then you think they are still organized and have a large membership?"

"I have had men out looking up their meetings, and we know where they are and have the name and address of the leaders and the most radical Anarchists, so we can reach them in case of trouble. They meet in smaller numbers than before, but there are more of them and they conduct their meetings differently. There is not so much preparation at meetings for fighting and drilling with arms and explosives, but, what is far more dangerous, they are thoroughly organized just within the pale of the law, and all we can do is to keep our eyes on them. The worst thing about it is they have several schools here for teaching anarchy, which they call 'Anarchy Sunday-Schools.' In these they teach the children to hate law and the officers of the law, and teach them the worst principles of anarchy. Why, the wife of a trusted employe of the County Board is the organizer and teacher in one of these schools, and there are no less than 5,000 able-bodied Anarchists in Chicago to-day, ready and organized, waiting for the appointed time.

"Trouble must come sooner or later. They have set a day for it at headquarters, but in the meantime they will avail themselves of every opportunity to carry out their object of destruction to all organized law and order institutions. They sent out circulars before the election asking legislative candidates for an expression of their opinion on the State conspiracy law enacted at the last session of the Legislature. Many of the candidates replied that they were in favor of a modification of the law, and some of these candidates were elected, too. So you see they are becoming wiser and consequently more dangerous, because the most radical of them are afraid to experiment together with explosives as long as the law is as it is."

"You say they have a day set for an uprising and mentioned headquarters. Have you any information of this phase of the Internationals?"

"Yes; much more than I can give you; but you may say that we have positive evidence of their organization, officers, plans, committees, etc. The central point is in London, with Paris the next, then Brussels, New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and San Francisco. All the principal countries have Vice-Presidents, the United States having two, Chicago one and New York one. In the strength of their numbers they rank: France, first; Germany, second; the British Isles, third, etc., with the United States and Mexico last. In America the central headquarters is in New York. So far they have agreed on the one hundredth anniversary of the fall of the Bastile as the day for a concerted uprising. I do not think the people can take it any too much in earnest. They may have to change it, but they will certainly make the effort. It must come. That is inevitable."

THE BABY SHOW.

Latest Entries Placed on the Book—The Society's Petition.

"What a sweet little man you are to be sure! Come right in and sit down."

This was the greeting which was extended by Mrs. Dr. Comstock this morning to a little 2-year-old fellow with flaxen curls, eyes of the deepest cerulean, and a complexion of waxen beauty. The "little man" looked up at Mrs. Comstock as though he wondered what it was all about, with a disregard as serene as if he were totally unconscious of the fact that he was about to be entered in the biggest baby show ever given in this city or hereabouts.

Mrs. Brooks to-day remarked that the object and purposes of the show should not be merged too deeply in the show itself. The funds proceeding from the affair will be applied to one of the best and most charitable ends possible, namely, the prevention of cruelty to dumb animals, and the ladies have their own sweet methods of doing such things. This object should stimulate more interest in the affair than that which is taken in a superficial way, and the show, therefore, can not be too successful.

Yet such was the case and a moment later his name and age were inscribed on Mrs. Comstock's book and he was carried off by his fond father who looked as though he thought "well, other babies may be great and all that sort of thing, but this particular boy captures the cracker factory and no mistake."

The list of entries in the show is swelling daily and it is estimated by the ladies that at least 100 little ones will be gathered together when the show opens at the Pickwick Monday. The magnitude of the show is not appreciated generally. Each entry must, in the nature of things, be supplied with an attendant, and then each will have its clientele of friends in addition to the regular attendance of outsiders. These things will keep the managers hard at their work, but the loftiness of its inspiration will more than sustain them.

The list of entries was materially increased to-day. Among the latest additions to it are these:

Mrs. A. A. Mosher enters her 6-months-old boy.

Gilbert Wesley Fox, entered by Mrs. Fox of Benton Station, is 2½ years old.

Helen Childers, 2 years old, is a valuable entry. She converses freely and sings like a thrush.

Helen E. Bowman, the adopted child of Miss Mary E. Warren, is 3½ years old, but is not larger than a 3-months-old baby, and has the peculiar and convenient condition called "double jointed."

Mrs. Louise Link enters her 2-months-old twins, Louise and Charles.

Another pair of twins are Blanche and Aurelia Archambeault, 1 year 8 months old, of 2014 Market.

Other entries are: Hazel Fay, 2 years, 3521 Bailey avenue; Theo Dowler, 9 months, 25 North Tweifth; More Berry Keady, 6 months, 3952 Olive street; Ed Joseph Logue, 3 years; Mildred Haughton Clarke, 3 years, 523 Ware avenue; Gladys Garrett, 16 months, 3025 Locust; Harris Ss. Clair Hartley, 11 months, weighs 47 pounds; Agnes May Driscoll, 16 months; Joseph Brown, 8 months, 1210 North Tenth street.

The ladies of the society have a petition which will be circulated among the business men for signature, and which will be submitted to the Municipal Assembly when sufficient names are secured. It will pray that a law be passed prohibiting the receiving of suckling calves by commission merchants and butchers in the city.

NO NEW HIGH SCHOOL.

THE PRESENT FOUNDATIONS NOT LIKELY TO BE BUILT ON NOW.

President Judson Says the Condition of the Board's Finances Renders the Erection of a Building in Accordance With the Plans Impossible—What Architect Kirchner Says—Other Views.

THE elegant new High School building which was to adorn Grand avenue and be a monument to the management of public school affairs in this city will most probably never be built. The poor prospects for its erection are set forth in an explicit manner in the annual report of Mr. Frederick V. Judson, the President of the School Board. Mr. Judson says:

"The pupils of the High and Normal Schools, now under one supervision, are accommodated in four buildings, over 400 being in the Polytechnic building and about one hundred and seventy-five in the City University building, which was leased to the board last year for a term of ten years. As is well known, prior to the induction of the present board, a lot for a new High School site had been selected on Grand avenue near Bell street and purchased for the sum of $34,000, and $1,800 paid for drawing plans for a building, and $46,159.55 invested in excavations and building foundation walls. The cost of the completion and furnishing of the building according to the plan thus adopted, and to this extent executed, is variously estimated from $300,000. Of the $100,000 collected from the Washington University in settlement of the Ames bequest, assigned to the board at the time of the purchase of the Polytechnic Building, said sum having been set apart for the purpose of erecting a new High School, there remains available the sum of about $11,000 only.

"While it may be conceded that the High School is now embarrassed for want of proper accommodations which the board has to decide is a difficult one. It is believed by many, including myself, that the selection of the site was unfortunate, but the lot has been purchased, and the board must deal with the existing situation. It is clear, however, that it is impossible for the board, in the condition of its finances, to complete the building according to the present plan, and demands for the extension of the district school system to meet the existing and prospective wants of the city put its consideration out of the question. Whether the existing foundation could be utilized in erecting a building on another plan within the means of the board (if the objections to the site should not be deemed insuperable), would require determination. The buildings now used for the High School and Normal School, belonging to the board, could be made available toward meeting the expense of providing a new building, and if it was concluded not to erect on the present site, that also could be sold and the proceeds utilized for the same purpose.

"In this connection, however, the board should not lose that the High School is kept within manageable limits of expense. The temperature for teachers' salaries in the High School increased from $33,887.90 in 1881-2 to $53,441, this amount estimated as required for the years 1888-9. This increase, which is far out of proportion to the growth of the grammar school system, is partly due to the increase in the salaries of the individual teachers, but mainly to the large increase in the number of pupils; such increase being over 50 per cent during the five years from 1882-3 to 1887-8. But a small proportion of those who enter the High School graduate.

"While all will concede the excellent work done in the High School, the high character of its instruction and its value to the district school system in affording a liberal education to its teachers, the pressing calls upon the board's limited income for the support and extension of the district schools, wherein the masses receive their only education, require that this advanced education, however desirable in itself, should be furnished at public expense only to those who show exceptional qualification therefor."

This morning a POST-DISPATCH reporter called on

for the purpose of obtaining additional information, if possible, on this interesting subject.

"Is it settled," he was asked, "that the High School building is not to be built?"

"I can't say that. I simply assert in my report that it is impossible for the board in the condition of its finances to complete the building according to the present plan, because demands for the extension of the district system require all the funds available."

"Has any modification of the plans originally adopted been contemplated with a view to reducing the cost of the building?"

"As far as I know the matter has not been discussed."

"You state in your report that whether the existing foundations could be utilized in erecting a building on another plan within the means of the board would require determination. Have you consulted any builder on that question?"

"No, I have not. I merely wished to present to the board the condition in which we stood in regard to the High School building and leave it to the board to take such action as may be deemed wisest under the circumstances."

Mr. N. W. Kirchner,

THE ARCHITECT

who drew the plans for the new High School Building, was visited for the purpose of getting his views upon any modification of the design. Mr. Kirchner admitted freely to begin with that as a member of the board he held opposite views on the question to those held by Mr. Judson.

"In the first place," said Mr. Kirchner, "Mr. Judson as he admits in his report is opposed to the site selected. His figures as to the cost of the proposed building are erroneous. The total cost, exclusive of the lot and inclusive of the rubble masonry and excavations, would be $271,707. The cost of masonry was $40,041 out of the excavations $8,500, making a total thus far expended of $48,540. Now take that from the complete cost and you will find that a further expenditure of $223,167 will give us the proposed High School building and not $300,000 or upwards would be necessary as Mr. Judson asserts.

"Could a cheaper building than the one contemplated be erected on the present foundations?"

"Oh, of course the plans could be so modified as to make the building very plain in appearance, but not more than 10 per cent of the entire cost could be saved by so doing, and it is a question whether it would be policy for the public to expend such a large sum of money for a building which would not do credit to the city when erected. It is certainly mighty strange if cities like Denver and Hartford can put up high school buildings which cost $350,000 and Boston one which cost $750,000 and a city like St. Louis cannot afford an expenditure of less than $300,000."

Mr. Judson's report will no doubt prompt the board to taking some definite action in regard to the proposed High School building. One way of meeting the expense of its erection in case it was decided to continue its construction would be to dispose of the buildings now used for the High and Benton Schools. The estimated value of the Benton School property on Ninth and Locust streets is $50,000, and of the High School property on Sixteenth and Olive streets $40,000. These amounts would be according to Mr. Kirchner's figures, to complete the building in accordance with the original plans. The members of the board opposed to the present site are said to be in favor of selling it, and also the Normal and High School buildings and erecting a High School in a more central location and at a lesses cost, if it is determined to erect one at all. There are a number of members in the board, however, who are of the opinion that the limited income of the board should all be used for the support and extension of the district school system, as it is more necessary, they claim, that this should be done than that a new High School be erected. In support of this position they cite interesting figures in regard to attendance at the schools, embodied in Mr. Judson's report. These figures go to show that barely one-sixth of the children of the district schools. The comparative figures are as follows: First year, 13,309; second year, 10,046; third year, 7,187; fourth year, 5,184; fifth year, 2,602; sixth year, 1,801; seventh year, 1,083; eighth year, 884; junior class of High School (equivalent to ninth year), 385; second class, 282, third class, 169, and senior class, 113. These figures, they assert, are convincing in themselves how much more important it is to foster the district system than put out money for a High School at the expense of the district schools. The matter will likely receive consideration at the meeting of the board this evening.

NEARLY ADEQUATE,

PASS BEYOND THE FOURTH GRADE

BILLY PATTERSON AGAIN.

A Vain Effort to Discover the Man Who Struck Him.

The problem, who struck Billy Patterson, still remains unsolved. It was supposed that the mystery had been cleared when Dan Brouthers, the big janitor at the Four Courts, was arrested election day for striking Billy, but the trial to-day before Judge Cady left it as much a mystery as ever. Dan Brouthers said he did not, and yet Patterson was struck. The two men were tried on counter charges of disturbing the peace. It was shown that A. S. Knapper had called in Patterson to help him run things. Patterson, although not a citizen of the State, insisted on having everything done his way at the polling place, on Thirteenth between Olive and Pine streets, and installed himself there as grand dictator. When ordered to keep out of the polls by the United States Marshal he refused to do so, and Brouthers grabbed him and threw him out. To use Patterson's own language, the big janitor grabbed hold of him by the nap of the neck, knocked his feet from under him and threw him to the sidewalk. Patterson also declared that he was struck, but did not know who struck him. Judge Cady did not see by what authority Mr. Knapper called in a nonciticen to run an election here and Brouthers was discharged and Patterson was fined $5 and costs. Knapper paid the fine for him.

Marriage of Mr. J. S. Van Nostrand and Miss Clara Crabb—Events in the Near Future—Fashionable Happenings—Receptions, Soirees, Etc.—Notes, Gossip, Chat and Personals.

THE Central Presbyterian Church, corner of Garrison and Lucas avenues, will this evening be the scene of a pretty chrysanthemum wedding, that of Miss Clara Crabb to Mr. J. S. Van Norstrand. Promptly at 8 o'clock Mendelssohn's Wedding March will be the signal for the entree of the bridal cortege, which will be met at the door by the ushers, who will lead the way up the aisle. These gentlemen are Mr. Nalls, Mr. Lou Curry, Dr. De Courcy Lindsley and Mr. Frank Burleigh. Then will follow the bridesmaids and groomsmen in the following order: Miss Emma Van Norstrand and Dr. Alexander Jordan, Miss Jessie Crabb and Mr. Robert Loose, Miss Annie McCown of Springfield and Mr. Charles Crabb, Miss Lizzie Loose of Springfield and Mr. Robert Breck. After them will come the little flower bearers, Frankie Crabb and Maude Niedringhaus, and lastly the bride, supported by her father. At the chancel they will be met by the groom, who will accompany the clergyman, Rev. Dr. Brank, from the side door.

The bride will wear a very elegant robe of cream white moire, made perfectly plain, with long train finished by a pleating of lace around the bottom, the corsage made after the French fashion, high with long sleeves, the duchess lace at the throat confined by a brooch set with diamonds, the gift of the groom. Her veil of tulle will be worn without ornament, and fall unconfined to the bottom of her robe. In her hand she will carry a large bunch of bride's roses.

The bride's maids will all wear china silk of different colors.

Miss Jessie Crabb will wear a pale shade of heliotrope China silk, with soft clinging draperies, the corsage cut en-V over the shoulder and finished with folds disappearing beneath the broad silken girdle at the waist; no sleeves, but long gloves reaching above the elbow. In her hand a large bunch of white chrysanthemums.

Miss Van Norstrand will wear pale blue China silk, with clinging, artistic draperies, the bodice finished with folds of the silk, following the pointed line over the shoulders; high puffed caps on the shoulder, and in her hand a bunch of white chrysanthemums.

Miss Loose will wear pale pink China silk, made after the same fashion as the others, with soft, full draperies, pointed corsage and no sleeves, long gloves, and carrying a bunch of chrysanthemums.

Miss McCown's gown is of primrose yellow, lightly draped with the China silk, the V-shaped corsage finished with folds of the silk; no sleeves and bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

Little Maude Niedringhaus will wear white China silk, made after the Greenaway style, and will carry a basket of chrysanthemums, as will also her little escort.

Mrs. Crabb, the bride's mother, will wear black faille, with surplice corsage, filled with point lace; diamonds.

Miss Lizzie Crabb will wear pale blue silk Henrietta cloth, with shawl shaped draperies, the bodice made square and filled with lace.

Miss June Crabb will wear rose pink silk, veiled with white lace, the bodice girdled with a broad sash.

After the ceremony the bridal party and wedding guests, whice are limited in number, only the relatives and most intimate friends having been invited, will repair to the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Crabb, No. 3020 Bell avenue, where a small informal reception will be held. The house has been decorated with chrysanthemums of every hue, with foliage plants for a background. The happy pair will dispense with a wedding journey at present, but will go later in the season to New Orleans. For the winter they will be located with her parents on Bell avenue.

Society Notes.

Dr. H. C. Hite Indicted for Intimidating Government Witnesses.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., November 13.—The case of Dr. H. C. Hite of Randolph County was concluded in the United States Court last night, the jury this morning returning a verdict of "guilty." The charge against Hite was intimidating Government witnesses, who had testified for the Government in the case based on the operations of a band of outlaws who operated in Randolph County, this State, and who ordered a number of persons to leave the country, warning them by leaving bundles of switches and threatening notes in front of their houses. Several persons are indicted for the same offense and will be tried this week. The testimony of H. G. Gue of Doniphan, Mo., on behalf of the Government, was of a sensational character.

THE CELEBRATED

EGYPTIAN MAGIC MIRROR,

Which has created so much interest in Europe for the past ten years, has recently been secured by Mrs. Dr. Eddy, the renowned Clairvoyant, and is creating just as much interest in St. Louis as it did in all the leading cities of Europe. All who have seen their fortunes in it pronounce it the most wonderful thing of the age. If you long for a glimpse of some dear face, which you cannot gaze upon in this life, you should consult the Magic Mirror. If some loved one is far away, and if your lover or husband has deserted you, consult the Mirror and see where they are. Remember that Mrs. Dr. Eddy is the seventh daughter, born with a double veil; has the power of any two clairvoyants you ever met; tells you entire life, past, present and future, in a dead trance; every hidden mystery revealed; tells full names of her callers, and full name of future husband or wife, with age and date of marriage; tells all business affairs with utmost truth; unites the separated and causes speedy and happy marriage with the one you love; removes evil influences; gives good luck; business, love and marriage a specialty, reveals everything; no imposition; $5,000 challenge to any medium who can excel her. Fee, $1, $2 and $5; hours, 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. strict. 1417 Pine st., St. Louis, Mo. Letters with stamps answered promptly. Always at home. 74

DOINGS IN THE COURTS.

SIXTEEN OPINIONS HANDED DOWN BY THE COURT OF APPEALS.

Affirmance of the Lower Court's Decision in Favor of Fifth National Bank Stockholders—A Sleeping Car Case—Mrs. Nannie Wright Triumphs—Some Opinions To-Day—Legal News and Notes.

The Court of Appeals met this morning with all the Judges on the bench and handed down sixteen opinions, as follows:

Chas. Hoyle and others, appellants, against assigned estate Guernsey Furniture Co., W. H. Scudder, assignee, respondent; confirmed.

Geo. W. Wilson, respondent, against the Baltimore & Ohio Railway Co., appellant; reversed and remanded.

William Keating, respondent, against America Refrigerator Transit Co., garnishee of Brown, appellant; overruled and cause remanded.

Mary Frachly and others, respondents, against North St. Louis Mutual Fire Insurance Co., appellant; reversed and remanded.

John Worheide, respondent, against Missouri Car & Foundry Co., appellant; reversed.

R. M. Nichols, respondent, against Lon V. Stephens, receiver of the Fifth National Bank, appellant; affirmed.

Flint Road Cart Co., respondent, against Lon V. Stevens, receiver of the Fifth National Bank, appellant; affirmed.

Ernst Schierenberg, respondent, against Lon V. Stephens, receiver of the Fifth National Bank, appellant; affirmed.

Lon V. Stephens, receiver of the Fifth National Bank, appellant, against G. Schuchmann and others, respondents; reversed and remanded.

Caspar Damhorst, respondent, against Missouri Pacific Railway Co., appellant; reversed nisi.

Henry G. Farber, respondent, against Missouri Pacific Railway Co., appellant; reversed and remanded.

Newton Prueitt, respondent, against the Cheltenham Quarry Co., appellant; affirmed.

Godfrey H. Lasar, appellant, against George W. Baldridge, respondent; affirmed.

W. H. Turner, assignee of the Zephyr Manufacturing Co., appellant, against D. J. Hayden and others, respondents; affirmed.

John A. Hyde, respondent, against St. Louis Book & News Co., appellant; affirmed.

The Klausmann Brewing Co., respondent, against Theodore Schoenlan, appellant; affirmed.

Fifth National Bank Suits.

The affirmance by the Court of Appeals this morning in favor of the respondents of the cases of Ernest Schierenberg and R. M. Nicholls against Lon M. Stephens, receiver of the Fifth National Bank, confirms the plea of the subscribers to the increased capital stock that the amount thus paid be considered a part of the bank's assets, as much as the money of the depositors. These are the test cases that were brought, and their disposition will no doubt relieve the minds of the additional subscribers. It will be remembered that the latter paid in some $130,000 toward the bank's increased capital, and that when the Fifth National failed the subscribers held that they were entitled to recover the money thus paid, and at the same time to be relieved of their double liability. The Court of Appeals affirms the concession made them by the lower court, so that the assets of the banks are now virtually decreased $260,000, half of the amount actually and the other half so far as the liability of the subscribers might be taken into account. However, the depositors cannot be affected seriously, as under Mr. Stephen's receivership dividends to the amount of 85 per cent have been paid them.

Lost In a Sleeping Car.

The suit of Geo. W. Wilson against the Baltimore & Ohio Railway Co., to recover $670, alleged to have been abstracted in a sleeping-car on the defendant's road, has been tried twice There was a hung jury the first time and a verdict for the plaintiff the second, but this morning Judge Thompson handed down an opinion reversing and remanding the case. Wilson was a New York farmer on his way to Benton, Ark., via St. Louis, and the money disappeared from his pocket-book in the night during his temporary absence from his berth, near which a porter and brakeman were seated. The Judge holds that the plaintiff could not charge the defendant with liability, either on the theory of loss through negligence or by the theft of its servants, a greater sum than was reasonably necessary for his traveling expenses, that the evidence did not show what amount was necessary, and as there was no evidence on this point the verdict should have been limited to nominal damages. The evidence eliminates the question of negligence, because the plaintiff's own evidence shows that he was grossly negligent.

Mrs. Wright Victorious.

After listening to testimony for sections of three days, the jury in Judge Barclay's court in the suit of Charles Green against Mrs. Nannie M. Wright, retired about noon, and at the end of half an hour returned a verdict for the defendant. Mr. Green sued Mrs. Wright for $625, alleged due him for services rendered her in attempting to dispose of certain real estate at Washington and Garrison avenues. Mrs. Wright transferred the agency for the property to other hands, after Mr. Green had failed to sell it. He claimed that she had hampered his efforts and had not notified him of her change of plans.

A Question of Negligence.

Judge Rombauer handed down the opinion reversing the verdict of the Lower Court, which found for the plaintiff in the case of John Worheide against the Missouri Car and Foundry Co. The plaintiff is a mechanic, and run a rip-saw in the defendant's shops. He was injured by the tipping over endways of two tresties on which heavy timbers were piled, in consequence of which the timbers slid and struck his leg, inflicting permanent injuries. Culpable negligence was claimed by the plaintiff's attorneys, while the defendant's answer was a general denial and the plea of contributory negligence. Judge Rombauer concludes his opinion by saying: "The trial court in submitting the case to the jury seems to have taken the view that whether the appliances were reasonably safe for the purpose intended was a question of fact for their determination, and that evidence that they could have been made safer was evidence that they were not reasonably safe. This view is erroneous, and in direct conflict with the views of the Supreme Court in Smith vs. Railroad Co., 69 Mo., 37, 38. Human ingenuity can hardly devise any appliance which is so safe that it could not be made still more secure by additional safeguards. A master is under no obligation to reject all the utensils and machinery employed by him at once because perchance others are employing utensils and machinery safer in construction. Much less is he required to do so when, as in this case, it is shown that similar appliances are used in similar establishments, and the plaintiff fails to show that other and better appliances are in common use."

Notes in Court.

A special jury has been ordered for Tuesday in the case of Chouteau against the Jupiter Iron Works.

Mrs. Catherine Sunberg and Mrs. Mary Bisery have brought suit for divorce from their respective husbands.

Samuel S. Scott has taken out letters of administration on the estate of Isabella M. Floyd-Jones, valued at $1,000.

There was judgment for the plaintiff for $1,356.40 in the case of the Jack Frost Ice Co. against Woodlocke and others before Judge Valliant.

Katie Dauer has brought suit for divorce from Reinhardt Dauer, alleging drunkenness, abuse and failure to support. She asks for alimony and the custody of her child.

A typographical error in yesterday's issue made the verdict awarded by a jury in Judge Lubke's court read $2,560 instead of $25,600. It was the last-named amount for which Peter Manerman sued the Iron Mountain Railroad, and to which, by reason of his injuries, the jury thought him entitled.

PATTI'S WELSH CASTLE.

THE DIVA'S ADOPTED DAUGHTER DESCRIBES LIFE AT CRAIG-Y-NOS.

The Great Good Fortune that Has Befallen Miss Patti, Who Will Inherit the Famous Singer's Millions—Suddenly Raised from Humble Life to a Home of Luxury—How Mme. Patti Rests from Her Tours.

Special Correspondence Sunday POST-DISPATCH.

NEW ORLEANS, November 6.—When the newspapers announced two years ago that Mme. Adelina Patti had determined to adopt a neice living in this city every one wondered who the fortunate young lady could be. It was known that Carlo Patti, brother of the diva, had left a widow and child in New Orleans, but they had always lived in a secluded neighborhood, and very few people could answer any questions concerning them. When the young lady returned from Craig-y-Nos Castle ten days ago the situation had entirely changed. Those who were not acquainted with her were anxious to be and only those in the neighborhood where she resided were not aware of her return.

The POST-DISPATCH correspondent learned from a lady who holds a prominent position in society and who was so fortunate as to have had Miss Carlina at her house to lunch only the day before, that the girl resided on Ursuline street, "very near Rampart," but she had forgotten the number. All the door-bells in that section were rung and inquiries made in very imperfect French, and often answered in as bad English, but no one knew where the young lady could be found. In fact, no one knew she had returned from Europe. A polite old Creole gentleman, with the mustache and appearance of one of Napoleon's curiasseurs, finally agreed to apply to all his friends for information, and, after an hour's search it was discovered that Miss Patti was living on Ursuline street, near Ireme.

Ascending the three steps of a small one-story cottage, the POST-DISPATCH correspondent was admitted without formality and was ushered into the parlor before he had an opportunity to present his card. The parlor was quietly and inexpensively furnished, and the walls hung with large-sized photographs of Craig-y-Nos Castle. The only article of any especial value was a handsome piano that about filled one side of the little parlor. Before the eye could take in these details the folding-doors swung open and Miss Carlina Patti appeared. She bears a striking resemblance to her distinguished aunt, her stature, carriage and features being similar. Face and figure are rather fuller, perhaps, but not sufficiently so to detract from the girl's beauty. Every one has seen the diva or her photograph, and if he can picture her with face slightly rounded, he has a more faithful portrait of Miss Carlina than the pen can give.

"What can I say to you about my trip, and the life I led at Craig-y-Nos?" she said in reply to the correspondent's question. "The castle itself is more beautiful than you can fancy or than I can picture it, and is located in one of the most lovely spots on earth. Life there is much the same, I suppose, as at any other English country seat whose owners are cultivated and wealthy. Mme. Patti has a bowl of broth carried to her room each morning before she arises, and usually spends the forenoon in answering correspondence and writing her memoirs, which will be published as soon as complete. I was engaged at my lessons from 9:30 to 11 o'clock every morning, under private tutors from Swansea. These lessons included music, the languages and the usual academic studies. The rest—for the castle is always full when auntie is there—spend the morning hours in the way most conducive to their comfort and enjoyment.

"At noon lunch was served, usually in the conservatory. Most of the guests, including myself, then indulged in outdoor games, usually lawn-tennis, or took carriage drives in the neighborhood. Auntie more frequently made one of the driving than of the lawn parties. But usually she occupied her time strolling among the neighboring mountains, at her easel or embroidery, or simply doing nothing at all, for she needs rest and repose after her tours, sometimes extending half around the globe, and she goes to Craig-y-Nos to get it. At times auntie and myself and some of the guests would accompany Uncle Nicolini to the 'hut' and watch him fish. At other times we went with him and other gentlemen hunting, though neither auntie nor myself used rod or gun.

"The elaborate dressing for dinner prevalent throught Great Britain was new to me, but I think it a pretty and appropriate custom. After this important daily duty was completed and the meal was over we played billiards or whist or such games as one chose. Mme. Patti sang for us sometimes in the evening, but by no means every day, for she is very careful of her voice.

"This is the daily round at Craig-y-Nos, varied at times by a drive to Swansea, about two and a half hours distant by carriage, or in picnicking at picturesque spots in the neighborhood. It is not a monotonous life, I assure you, but is altogether charming."

Miss Carlina then described her meeting with her aunt at St. Louis and her impressions of that city, Cincinnati, Washington, New York and Baltimore. Upon reaching Europe she went with her aunt and uncle to Paris, and thence to Madrid and Lisbon. At Paris she had an attack of typhoid fever and saw little of that city. She spoke with almost childish delight of her tour in South America, and particularly of the cities of Buenos Ayres, Montevideo and Rio. Mme. Patti provided her niece with a private box whenever she sang, and everything was done to add to her enjoyment. This was the first trip of a girl who had before scarcely been beyond the limits of her native city, and her description of scenes and incidents in South America were like the paintings of the impressionist school—a great deal of color and barely any outline.

"This," continued Miss Carlina, pointing to a fine photograph of the castle hanging above her head, "gives you some idea of the delightful place and its surroundings, but the camera imperfectly presents its attractions. It is as elegantly appointed inside as it is picturesque without. The walls of Auntie's boudoir are hung with crimson tapestry and the furniture covered with crimson velvet. The chairs and sofas in all her apartments are draped with the ribbons that formerly held together the wreaths and other floral designs presented to her by famous people throughout the world in appreciation of her genius. The walls are lined with the photographs and accompanying autographs of the crowned heads and royalties of Europe. Her bed-room is draped and furnished in blue and filled with toilet articles in gold and silver. On her writing desk is an exquisite paper weight, studded with diamonds, sapphires and rubies."

Miss Carlina was charmed with everything she saw in England and Wales and was very warm in the expression of her admiration of the people. She says her aunt is very popular with the Welsh peasantry on account of her benificence and that she likes the country so well that she has recently purchased all the mountain land for sale around her castle.

When the WORLD'S correspondent inquired about the length of Miss Patti's stay here and asked when she expected to return to Craig-y-Nos, the young lady was not so communicative. She did not know how long she would remain with her mother; in fact she had not definitely determined whether she would return to Europe at all. She left Wales while her aunt was making preparations for her South American trip, and Mme. Patti told her to bring to New Orleans only such portion of her wardrobe as she would need while here. Her aunt, she said, wished her to return and live at Craig-y-Nos after the South American tour as the diva's companion.

Miss Carlina brought home evidences of her aunt's affection and liberality in the shape of a large quantity of jewelry, among other things the first present ever given to the great songstress, a handsome pearl necklace, and a bracelet of twisted gold worn by the diva many years. The girl looks upon these two articles with a great deal more favor than the others. "These," she said, with a wave of the hand towards a jewel casefull of diamonds, rubies, sapphires, etc., "are lovely, but they were bought for me. These two were hers."

Miss Patti's father, Carlo Patti, was the leader of an orchestra at the old Varieties Theater in this city for a number of years and during the war was a musician in the Confederate army. He married a Creole lady, but they did not live happily together and separated soon after Carlina's birth. Carlo died in St. Louis ten or twelve years ago.

Miss Patti has received a good education, particular attention being paid to music. She is a very clever pianist, but nature has not given her voice sufficient scope or power to fit her for the operatic stage, and she declares that she will never become an actress. She is slightly above the medium height, has dark hair and eyes, and the olive complexion of the Creole, through which the bloom imparted by the mountain atmosphere of Wales shows like light through alabaster. The transition from the castle to the little cottage on Ursulines street has been abrupt, doubtless, but she appears contented and happy. She is a charming girl anywhere.

A Pleasant Sensation.

From the Pittsburg Bulletin.

Mrs. Duquesne: "I suppose you sing or play?"

Miss Newcomer: "Oh, no. I'm not at all musical."

Mrs. Duquesne: "You recite, probably?"

Miss Newcomer: "Oh, no, indeed!"

Mrs. Duquesne: "Well, then, I suppose you paint plaques?"

Miss Newcomer: "Me paint! I couldn't paint a fence."

Mrs. Duquesne (eagerly): "Oh, you dear girl, how lovely! You must promise to come to every one of my receptions. You'll be such a sensation!"

Morning Greetings.

From an Exchange.

Teacher: "Yes, children, when Frenchmen meet they say, 'How do you carry yourself?' The Germans say, 'How goes it to-day?' The Chinese say, 'How is your stomach?' Now, of course, you can tell me what Americans say when they meet?"

Bright pupil: "Yes'm."

"Well, you can answer. What is the usual American greeting?"

"How is your cold?"

MONEY.

NEW YORK, November 13, 11 a. m.—The stock market opened with a rush this morning, the pressure to sell being very heavy and the activity something beyond anything seen for months. The market was extremely weak and first prices showed declines from last evening's closing figures of from ¼ to 1 per cent, the latter in Lake Shore and Missouri Pacific. The market was weak and feverish from the first sales, but the greatest pressure was upon the Vanderbilts and Lake Shore & Michigan Central, each lost 2 per cent. Lackawanna and Erie preferred each retired 1 per cent, while the losses in the rest of the list were generally from ⅛ to ¾ per cent. The Southern and Southwestern stocks were comparatively well held, and while active yielded but slightly. Lake Shore, Reading, Lackawanna, Northwestern and Union Pacific were the leading active stocks, but the entire list was unusually active and feverish. Toward the end of the hour there was less animation, and the decline was checked, even slight recoveries being made in some directions, but the market continued feverish, and at 11 o'clock it was still very active and again weak at the lowest prices reached.

Noon.—Money is easy at 1½@2 per cent. Bar silver, 93¾. The decline in the stock market made but slight progress after 11 o'clock and while there was still a moderate degree of activity the amount of business done underwent a marked decrease from that of the first hour. The movement was very small after 11 o'clock, and the tendency soon was turned in the upward direction, but this again reversed later and the improvement wiped out. There was no feature of importance throughout the hour, and at noon the market was fairly active and heavy to weak, at or near the lowest prices of the morning.

3 p. m.—The stock market closed steady to firm at small fractions under first prices.

LONDON, November 13, 12:30 p. m.—Consols opened at 97⅛ for money and 97⅜ for the account.

Money 1@1½ per cent. Rate of discount in the open market for both short and three-months' bills is 3@3⅛ per cent.

12:30 p. m.—American railway securities are flat at the Stock Exchange, the cutting of freight rates in the United States having surprised the market.

St. Louis Markets.

REGULAR SESSION, CLOSING 1:15 P. M.

The available supply of wheat on land and sea is now 59,315,000 bu, an increase of 1,350,000 bu over last week and 8,508,000 bu more than one year ago. Of corn is 10,441,000 bu, a decrease of 1,789,000 bu from last week and 340,000 less than one year ago.——India's shipments of wheat last week were 160,000 bu to United Kingdom and 200,000 to Continent, a total of 360,000 bu, against 480,000 the week before and 200,000 same week one year ago.——The Mark Lane Express, in its review of the British grain trade during the past week, says: The changeable weather has favored wheat sowing and the planting of the 1889 crop has progressed to such an extent as to make the outlook favorable beyond what the average seasons afford, and conducive to an increased area being seeded. There has been no feature in the trade for old native wheats. Sound samples of new are locally is dearer. * * * Foreign wheat buyers are depending upon the increasing of water-side stocks, with free shipments from Europe and the large quantity afloat, and also upon the expected collapse of the speculative movement in the United States to serve their present purposes. The receipts have been large, amounting to 184,647 quarters for the week. The percentage of contract wheat in stock at different markets is 53 per cent this year, against 76 per cent at same time last year.——Michigan's crop report for November shows that the area seeded to wheat is 1 per cent below last year, condition of the plant is 5 per cent below the average and 8 per cent below that of last year.——Private cables—To Cleary: "London shows quieter feeling, and in buyers' favor. Liverpool lower and ½d lower since Friday; closes quiet and unchanged." To Green: "Wheat generally 3@6d lower; corn dull and lower tendency." To Fath: "London dull and poor trade demand." From Clark: "Liverpool wheat ½d lower; decline not tempting buyers; cargoes weak. Expect large reduction in Russian surplus owing to frosts."——New Orleans yesterday cleared 20,296 bu corn for Havre and 92,000 bu for Rouen.——Beerbohm at 4:30 p. m. quoted wheat futures very quiet and ¼@½d lower; Antwerp quieter; Paris 3d lower.——Cleary had this telegram from Chicago: "Dispatches here say Russian crop 21,000,000 bu less than estimates."——H. C. Haarstick, President of the Barge Line, furnishes the following export figures on wheat: Wheat in Liverpool 8s 2d, equal to 2 per cental or $1.20 per bu; freight from St. Louis to New Orleans and expense f. o. b. 10c; freight from New Orleans to Liverpool 15c, expense to Liverpool 4c; total 29c, which deducted from $1.20 makes the cost of No. 2 red wheat in St. Louis for export 91c per bu.——On passage to United Kingdom:

Wheat bears girded up their loins this morning and prepared for a vigorous onslaught upon the market, the early news leading to the belief that another good break would take place. The cable advices were particularly bearish, for they not alone chronicled dull, weak and generally lower markets on the other side, but also a decrease of 700,000 bu in the amount on ocean passage, bringing the total up to 25,000,000, the largest ever known, and over 10,000,000 bu more than one year ago. Chicago's curb was off and the stock here showed a good increase, though receipts were light. Contrary to general opinion, however, the break didn't materialize. May opened ⅜c off at $1.12⅛, but at once followed the lead of Chicago, which advanced rapidly. There was a sufficient demand from shorts and of bull news (an unfavorable report on the Michigan crop, burning of an elevator at Buffalo and indications of a light movement in the Northwest) to keep the market up. It was the strong advance in Chicago more than anything else that elevated the outside markets, and there was more wind and "Old Hutch" in the advance there than straight goods. There was enough, however, to put May away up to $1.13⅞ here, but not holding up, falling back steadily late, and going down to $1.12¾@⅞. The close was at $1.12⅞@⅜, above yesterday. There was nothing done in spot grades, as buyers and sellers were wide apart. No. 2 red offered at $1.06¾, bid $1.06½; No. 3 red at $1.02½ in C., with that bid for V., D. and U.; No. 4 at 87½c in A., 86c bid for V., U. and D., rejected at 78c in St. L., bid 75c for St. L., 76c for M.

Corn had a good deal of strength underlying the market. There was no real "hankering" shown by sellers, and there was something of a snappy demand. The weather was growing softer, receipts were light, the stock very small, especially of No. 2, and not much chance to get it in now, which made November strong. Sales were made at 38c, but most of them were looked upon with suspicion and the principal long was not offering any. Outside markets showed firmness early in the day and the amount on passage a decrease of 250,000 bu. Year sold ¼c lower at 34¼c, and that was asked at close. January sold at 33⅛c, and May at 35⅝c to 35¾c. The spot market was firm, as there was little for sale and the order and local demand eagerly snapped up all the offerings. There was an export demand for No. 2, but enough could not be had to load out one barge. No. 2 sold at 39c in St. L. and 41c (for old) in M., 39½c bid for V. and U.; No. 3 at 36c in St. L. and C. and bid for M.; No. 4 at 33c in M. and bid for U.; No. 2 white at 40c this side; No. 3 white at 39c in St. L. and C.; no grade at 25c in St. L.

Oats were strong and with a decided upward tendency, under a good demand and advances in other markets. May sold at 29½c to 29⅝c and December at 24c, while 25c was bid for January and 26¾c for February. A growing scarcity of spot grades is strengthening values, order buyers again paying higher prices to obtain supplies. No. 2 was salable in St. L. and D. at 23c; No. 3 sold at 21¾@21⅞c this and 21¾c E. side; no grade at 20@19¾c in St. L., 19⅞c in C.

Rye was firmer, grade No. 2 selling this side at 50½c, and No. 3 in C. at 44c, and that bid for St. L. and D.

Barley steady, with a fair demand. Quotations range: Wisconsin ordinary, 55@65c; choice, 70@80c; fancy, 80@87c; Nebraska, 50@70c; Minnesota, 55@70c; Canada, 93@94c for No. 2, 98c for No. 1; Iowa, 55@65c.

Flour continues dull, as the demand was light, but holders asked steady rates. We quote: XXX, $3.30@3.45; family, $3.60@3.70; choice, $4.00@4.10; fancy, $4.50@4.60; extra fancy, $4.95@5.10; patents, $5.50@5.65. These prices for lots at depot and on levee this side.

Bran unsettled. Sacked 60c this side and at country point, 61c at mill, 60¾@61c f. o. b. this side; bulk 53½@55c at country point.

Hay—Fancy prairie and timothy about steady, under a fair local feeding demand, but grades below fancy were dull and weak; the offerings being largely in excess of the demand. Sales: On West tracks—Prairie, common to choice, $7@8.50; fancy, $9; mixed timothy, common to choice, $8@10; timothy, prime to strictly prime, $10@11; choice, $12@13; fancy, $14@15.00. East tracks—Offerings nominal.

Provisions were firm, but the demand showed no improvement and business was dull. Loose dry salt or shipping age f. o. b. on cash orders; shoulders, 8¼c; longs and c'ribs, 7.80c; shorts, 8.05c; boxed shoulders, 8c; longs 7.60@7¾c; c'ribs, 7¾@7⅞c; shorts, 8@8⅛c. Packed bacon — Shoulders, 8c; longs 8⅝@8¾c; c'ribs, 8¾@8⅞c; shorts, 9@9⅛c. Standard mess, f. o. b. at $15. Prime steam lard, 8c; fancy leaf, 9¼c; second brand, 8¾c. hams, 11@13½c. Breakfast bacon, 11@12c. Beef—Family, $6.50@10 per bbl; on orders higher, $4@5.50 per half bbl; dried, 10@13c; selected, 14c per lb; smoked tongues, $5.50@6 per dozen. Tallow—Summer, in oil bbls, 5¼c; in irregular packages, ¼c less; No. 2, 4¼@4½c. Grease—Brown and yellow, 2½@4½c; white, 4½@5½c. Salt—Domestic, $1 per bbl on E., $1 on this side. Ground alum, $1.10@1.25 per sack, small way higher.

Highwines unchanged at $1.14 in St. Louis, Cincinnati and Peoria, $1.20 in Chicago.

Lead was held at $3.55, which buyers had to pay to supply an immediate want, but only small and occasional sales at that rate. The best offer for a round lot was $3.50.

Afternoon Curb.

Wheat—May, $1.13@1.13½; puts, $1.12⅛@1.12⅜; calls, $1.14@1.14¼. Chicago—May, $1.15⅛ bid.

Cotton.

To-day Liverpool was quiet and unchanged for spot; opened quiet for futures at an advance, and closed firm. The New York spot market advanced 1-16c and was quiet. Futures advanced and closed barely steady. The local market was active and firm, with sales of 3,000 bales.

LOCAL SPOT QUOTATIONS — Low ordinary, 6⅝c; ordinary, 7¼c; good ordinary, 8⅛c; low middling, 9 1 16c; middling, 9½c; good middling, 9⅞c; middling fair, 10 3-16c; fair, —; stained, ¼c lower than white.

CHICAGO, November 13, 10 a. m.—Wheat opened irregular this morning. December was weak with the first price $1.13½, ½c higher than at the close of the board yesterday, and it steadily declined to $1.13 asked. The price now is $1.13⅛. May opened nervous at $1.14 or ⅛c lower, fluctuating between $1.13⅞@1.14⅜ and is now quoted at $1.14½@⅝. In corn the near futures were ¼c lower at 40¾c for November and 39½c for December, while May was unchanged. December subsequently advanced ⅛c and May receded a like amount. CATTLE—There was a fair amount of activity witnessed, that is as long as the supply lasted, which was moderate at most. Total offerings some sixty car-loads, and divided up between range cattle and native and Southwest stock. The wants of interior shippers, the Dressed Beef Company and local speculators quite fair, to say the least, for decent butcher steers. These buyers started making purchases early in the morning, and although by no means urgent in their demands, still they met buyers' views in the majority of cases, which meant the strong prices prevailing yesterday. By 11 a. m. about everything offered had changed hands. Only a few droves of good native steers offered and sold promptly at strong prices, the range being from $3.50@4.75 for 1,100 to 1,200 lbs. steers. Good fat and well matured steers would bring more than this. Stockers and feeders dull at $1.50@2.75 per 100 lbs. Common mixed butcher stuff slow. Veal calves scarce and wanted.

Choice shippers, $5@5.35; good native shippers, $4 25@4.75; fair to medium steers, $3.25@3.75; common steers, $2.50@3; stockers and feeders, $1.50@2.90; corn-fed Texas steers, $3.35@4; grass Texas steers, $2@2.90; cows and heifers, $1.50@2.25; bulls, $1.40@2; veal calves, $3.50@7 per head; fresh milk cows and calves, $13.50@30 per head.

HOGS—Buyers were very bearish, consequently prices declined fully 10c per 100 lbs on all grades, but mainly on good heavy hogs. The run was fair, there being nearly seventy-five car loads on sale, and the quality was pretty good. Packers, shippers and local speculators moved with some caution. The bulk of packing hogs brought $5.30, the range being $5.25@5.35. Butchers' and select heavy, $5.30@5.40; Yorkers and Baltimores, $5.20@5.30; pigs, $5@5.20; skips and culls, $4@4.75.

Mrs. Kennedy, on the Stand, Tells the Story of Her Wrongs.

The trial of Edward Fitzmorris and Sam Rychman, who are charged with being implicated in the assault of Mrs. Cornelia Kennedy, a St. Louis woman, was begun in the Circuit Court of Belleville yesterday. The affair occurred on Cahokia Creek in the middle of September last, when Mrs. Kennedy was fishing there with her husband. Mr. Kennedy was driven away and his wife brutally treated by nine ruffians. Mrs. Kennedy testified to the facts in the revolting case, and the testimony of Chief of Police Walsh of East St. Louis was also given. It was substantially the same as his statement printed in the POST-DISPATCH at the time. He said that Mrs. Kennedy reported the case to him and he went out to hunt for her assailants, accompanied by her husband who pointed out "Irish" McLaughlin as one of them. Walsh tried to catch McLaughlin but he ran away, and the officer shot at him but missed him. He subsequently arrested Fitzmorris and Rychman, who were identified by Mrs. Kennedy.

Jerry Reeves, a negro who lives near the scene of the assault, said that he heard the woman's cries for help and went to her. She told him what had been done to her and he told her to go to the house of a white man named Garvey, who lived not far away. He was afraid to take her to his house, as he had heard of too many such cases in that neighborhood before. He met Fitzmorris afterwards and told him if he was implicated in the affair he had better get away. Frances Reeves, his wife, corroborated her husband's story.

In Memory of Mrs. Leighton.

At a called meeting of the Board of Managers of the St. Louis Protestant Orphan Asylum, held November 12, 1888, the following tribute was paid to the memory of Mrs. Isabella B. Leighton:

Since the last monthly meeting of the managers of the St. Louis Protestant Orphan Asylum they have been called to attend the funeral of their colaborer, Mrs. Isabella B. Leighton, whose death they learned with deep sorrow occurred on November 3, 1888. Truly we have lost a beloved associate and wise counselor, whose gentle graces and sympathetic heart made her at all times a genial co-worker. Although she had withdrawn from active service for the past few years, she retained her interest in the welfare of the orphans, which was attested by her frequent donations and of the recent liberal gift of $5,000 towards the building of our cottages, one of which bears her name. Coupled with the sorrow we so deeply feel will be that of the orphans whose cause she so warmly espoused, and in her death they have lost a kind and thoughtful friend. We extend our tender to those whose grief is deeper than our words can reach the full measure of our sympathy. We and they are consoled by the thought that she whom we lament has obtained release from her long sufferings and has entered upon the reward of her labors in the realm where there are no orphans' tears to dry, no sorrows to soothe.

It was resolved that a copy of this tribute be sent to the family of the deceased and to the papers for publication.

Suicide of a Young Girl.

A strange suicide occurred in Mrs. J. C. Brennan's boarding-house at 1127 Locust street at 12 o'clock last night. Miss Clara Kinzlie, a compositor, 17 years old, had been living there for some time, because her stepfather made her home unpleasant. She had been out of work for several weeks and owed $6 for board and $1 for washing, and she grew so melancholy over her debts that she shot herself in the left temple. She had been upstairs playing with the children in the evening, then went to her room and prepared for bed before killing herself. She was a young woman of irreproachable character, but her home troubles and debts weighed too heavily upon her.

McNary's Defense.

Robert B. McNary, whose arrest on the suspicion that he caused the death of Patrick Flynn in the lodging-house on Sixth and Morgan streets was reported in yesterday's POST-DISPATCH, states that he is a graduate of the Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia, but has not practiced medicine for two years. On Sunday afternoon he was called to attend Flynn and found him in his room suffering with delirium tremens. He prescribed morphine and chloral, one-third of a sezatio to the dose. When he called at noon next day Flynn was dead, and McNary says that he might have died of alcoholism or an overdose of the medicine. McNary says that he had never seen Flynn until he was called to attend him.

President Byrne of Brooklyn Makes a Mysterious Visit to Places Unknown—The Big Four Combination—What Boston Says—George Wright and the Australians—Sporting News in General.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, November 13.—A rumor that President Byrne of the Brooklyn Club has made a flying visit to Washington and Baltimore sometime during the past two weeks, caused something of a stir among the base ball men in this city. The excitement was none the less when it was discovered that Mr. Byrne was again out of town yesterday and no one knew whither he had gone. One report had it that he had gone to Buffalo, another had it that he was again at Washington. No light could be thrown on his whereabouts at the club's office in Brooklyn. After many unsuccessful attempts to find Mr. Byrne he was finally captured on Park Row, returning from that mysterious visit.

"Been to Washington?" asked the reporter.

"No, I ——" he did not continue his speech upon what he thought of the person who had told the reporter that he had gone there before the reporter broke in with,

"Been to Buffalo?"

"No, I ——"

"Been to Baltimore?" again broke in the reporter.

"No, I've been to Philadelphia," he rattled off at last. "And just got back. Don't know about deals and don't want to buy the Washington franchise. If there is any one that does want it let him go and get it."

"What club will take the place of Cleveland?"

"That I don't know, but I do know that Cleveland is not in the League yet by any means. If they do get in, and the Association will do nothing against their doing so, they will find they will have to pay for it. They will also find that there will be many things to overcome before they are in the League for keeps. Outside the possibility of Cleveland going into the League, there will be no change in the Association next season. Baltimore will stay, and so will Louisville."

In speaking of his visit to Philadelphia Mr. Byrne said: "I have been to see John L. Rogers with a view to constructing the National agreement. The action of some of the minor league clubs this season has made this necessary. I know of minor league clubs that are full members under the National agreement. Still their players remain unpaid. All this must be stopped."

THE BIG FOUR.

Their Combination Is Not as Solid as It Was Supposed.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

DETROIT, Mich., November 13.—There is a serious hitch in the base ball deal between Boston and Detroit whereby the Bostonians were to take five men from this city. Boston has its eye on John Ward of the New Yorks, and it is probable that some one of the Detroits will be frozen out. Deacon White has learned that Director Billings of Boston said he did not care whether he (White) played with the Hubites or not. White is therefore vexed, and now the Detroiters say they will have nothing more to do with Billings. Bob Leadley says that the hitch is undoubtedly the result of a misunderstanding between Billings and the players and that it will probably be adjusted in a short time to the satisfaction of all concerned. The "Big Four" were very anxious to hang together if possible, and any scheme to seperate them was met with considerable resistance. Richardson and Ganzel have signed with Boston, Bennett, White and Brouthers still remaining out. White said some time ago that he would sign. The five players combined to make Boston take Rowe and Conway. The combination is not likely to work, and when the players get through their winter talk they will go to the various clubs that have bargained for their release. One of the articles of the League rules allows the committee to dispose of unsigned players to any club it sees fit, and if White, Rowe and Conway refuse to carry out their end of the agreement the League committee will dispose of them.

Boston Is Confident.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

BOSTON, Mass., November 13.—It has been reported that the big base ball deal between Boston and Detroit was off, but Director Billings of the Boston Club, who has conducted all negotiations in this matter, says the deal still stands, so far as he knows.

"We have," he said, "signed two men—Ganzel and Richardson—and before snow flies will add more to our list. He said it was the original intention to include Rowe in the deal, but Rowe was finally notified that Boston did not want him, and advised him to go to Pittsburg.

George Wright Falls In.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 13.—George Wright, the Boston veteran, arrived at San Francisco yesterday and cast his lot with the Spalding Australian party. He said at the Baldwin Hotel that he had embarked on the trip at the cost of considerable trouble, that he was glad that he had come. "I am going to look after the cricket end of the party," said he, "and incidentally after my own health. It will be a grand trip, my boy, and I would not have missed it on any account." In addition to his duties as coacher, Mr. Wright expects to do some bowling as well. He says he has very little doubt but that the Americans will make a creditable showing at cricket in Australia. Of base ball, Wright has had experience in 1874, when he went to England with the Bostons and Athletics and waxed the Britishers at their own game. Sam Wright accompanies his brother this far, and with them is A. Irving Snyder of Peck & Snyder of New York.

Base Ball Chat.

The Association averages were expected November 10, but they failed to materialize.

Next season Ezra Sutton will play third base for Milwaukee. He will captain the team.

In a letter to a Pittsburg friend John Ward says he will not give up his projected tour of the world to oblige the New York Club.

The Pittsburg people are fearful that Rowe and Conway may slip through their fingers. The local papers there are charging that Boston has been tampering with both players.

Indianapolis is working to secure Cleveland's place in the American Association. The city wants the 25c tariff.—[Toronto Mail. How do you know? And if you do, what's the story.

Mike Slattery of the New York Club has returned to his home in Boston. His friends there are contemplating a banquet to be given to him in honor of his fine work during the season with the Giants.

Pitcher Sullivan says he will demand $75,000 for his salary from the Cowboys next season. He will do this with the hope of securing his release, as he has been informed that Manager Watkins will release any player who demands a high salary.

Next year's Cincinnati team is now complete and will be as follows: Earl, Keenan, Righ and Baldwin, catchers; Smith, Mullane, Viau and Duryea, pitchers; Reilly, first base; McPhee, second base; Beard, short-stop; Carpenter, third base; Tebeau, left field; Holliday, center field, and Nicol, right field.

There is still excellent reason for believing that Brooklyn and Cincinnati will supplant Washington and Indianapolis in the League. During the past week President Stern of Cincinnati admitted that he was watching Brooklyn, and would follow it into the League, should it go. Such a break would virtually ruin the Association, and is very probable.—[Cleveland Plaindealer.

AMATEUR ATHLETICISM.

CHANGES THAT HAVE TAKEN PLACE IN THIS BRANCH OF SPORT.

The Boston Athletic Club and What It Has Done—Tyranny of the Gymnasium Athletes of Former Days—Changes During the Last Decade—Ancient and Modern Standards—Amateur Sparring.

NO one could have failed to remark how great has been the progress of athleticism in large Eastern cities within the past few years," said Dr. Jno. Bryant of the Boston Athletic Club who in the years between 1869 and 1873 was the leading athlete of Harvard College, and who is registered at the Southern. "When I first graduated the Boston Athletic Club was a small affair, and was principally given up to gymnastics. Within the past six years we have sent out a number of splendid crews, have put scores of men on the cinder path, have gone heavily into boxing and wrestling, and have the largest membership of any club in the country.

"The style of men developed by the athletic clubs has changed wonderfully during the last decade. When I first took an interest in athletics there were but three classes of men, the oarsmen, the gymnasts and the sprinters. The latter were very few in number, and the two first classes comprised nearly all, a very insignificant percentage of the community, who cared anything at all for physical development. In the gymnasium the apparatus most in use was the horizontal bar, and the man who could best perform upon this was the best athlete. The one measure by which a man's physical ability was tested was biceps measurement. This the horizontal bar would largely increase and it developed the grip, but beyond this it did little if any good. It was a source of surprise to us, the athletic club crews did so poorly, suffering again and again shameful defeat at the hands of men who were, according to the standards at that time, far their physical inferiors. The crews of gymnasts would rush ahead of everything for the first half mile, but at the end of that distance would drop back and never be in the race again. The ideal man of the last decade had heavy shoulders, biceps measuring from thirteen to fifteen inches, a tremendous grip, good chest muscles and legs and hips fitted for a man weighing from thirty to fifty pounds less. Everything below the waist was regarded as useless incumbrance, and the lighter a man was in those parts of the body the better chance he had of success in the contests then in vogue, as, except rowing, no prizes were offered for anything calling for endurance, and the man who could concentrate the most strength in a few seconds was the best. The ideal figure was a slope from the heels to the shoulders without a break in the line. This necessitated light legs, heavy shoulders, and weak, narrow hips, and was the build of the gymnast, but not of the athlete.

ATHLETICS VERSUS GYMNASTICS.

"In the revolution that has taken place during the last decade," Dr. Bryant went on to say, "the Boston Athletic Club may be fairly said to have taken the lead. The first step toward breaking away from the tyranny of the gymnasium was the introduction of wrestling. A young fellow from Dublin came to Boston and became a member of the club. He was as fine a wrestler as ever I saw outside of professional ranks, and his teachings managed to displace the collar and elbow grip, which Homer Lane had brought into favor, and replaced it with the side and back hold. The men began to see that strong biceps were not all that was required and the horizontal bar at once lost ground, giving place to the parallel bars, the rowing machine and light pulley weights. Then the introduction of the sliding seat in rowing came and with it a death blow to gymnastic athleticism. With the old-fashioned stationary seats large biceps were necessary to an oarsman, but the minute that the sliding seat was introduced the legs and backs replaced the arms, the latter becoming a mere connecting link. Within two years the average measurement of the biceps of our rowing men decreased three inches and a fraction, while their calf and thigh measurement must have increased to an even greater extent, although no statistics are obtainable on this point.

MODERN AMATEUR SPARRING.

"The danger then was that the club would, in its system of training, go to the other extreme, and develop a set of men with no arms at all. From this we were rescued by the great rise in popularity of boxing, in which we really followed the lead of the New York Athletic Club. For several years men practiced what I believe to be a false principle, and we have not yet recovered from the bad standard then set. The sparring was for scientific points, and every trainer we ever had laid great stress on the quick use of the left hand, the object being to teach the pupils to strike a quick blow with this utterly regardless of its force. The right was almost entirely defensive, never being used except to guard and to cross counter, two-handed fighting being an unknown art. Jem Mace set this fashion, and he was the model on which the men of our club formed themselves. By the way, many remember the fiasco between Mace and Coburn in their fight near New Orleans, but few know the reason of the farce. It was not that either man lacked courage, but that both were fighters of the same stamp. Neither even made a serious attack, but both relied on their quickness in cross-countering to win their fights. The consequence was that they stood for hours in front of each other, both waiting for the attack that never came, and as far as any damage done was concerned, they might have been standing there yet. Both were splendid men, and I would have liked to have seen them meet some of our modern rushers, but both were dependent for success on their opponents' tactics, and if an adversary did not carry out his part of the programme were helpless. The Boston Athletic Club had a row of boxers who would deliver a wonderfully quick blow with the left hand, but it would not kill a flea. Recently, however, a more aggressive policy has been pursued, and we have taken our models from the double-handed school. I tried hard to get Kilrain, but he would not come to us. We have, however, two other good men in our eye, and soon will have as fine a set of amateur sparrers as can be found in the world."

Jesse Cole, the murderer of Samuel Large, has been sentenced to hang at Newport, Tenn., on December 21.

About one hundred bales of cotton were destroyed by fire in the works of the Vicksburg (Miss.) Compress Co.

C. J. Spencer of Minneapolis, Minn., was choked to death at his dinner table by a piece of meat which lodged in his wind-pipe.

Antonio, a Mexican gambler, while under arrest at Nogales, Ariz., tried to carve the officer who had him in charge. The officer shot his pistol to Antonio's head and blew out his brains.

Mrs. Sarah J. Robinson, who was sentenced to hang at Boston, Mass., next Friday, for poisoning her brother-in-law, will instead be committed to solitary imprisonment for life, her sentence having been commuted by the Governor.

Some time last night burglars broke into the office and store of the post trader at Fort Snelling, Minn., and within hearing distance of the soldiers on guard, rifled the place and got away with about $1,000 in stamps and money and several registered letters.

Wm. H. Robinson, known as "Gopher Bill," will be released from the Pennsylvania State Penitentiary to morrow. He is the most daring criminal in the East, having been a counterfeiter since boyhood, and has spent half his life in prisons. He is now over 80 years of age.

A large delegation of the most prominent citizens of Marion County, Ala., called in a body upon three Mormon elders, who were in the neighborhood, and unceremoniously hurried and feathered them, and, after riding them out of town on rails, warned them to stay out of the county under penalty of death.

Judson Carson, a negro, who was suspected of killing a man named Bryan in a free fight near Monticello, Fla., was enticed from his home by some of Bryan's friends and brutally murdered. He was found in a pond with several hundred pounds of stones tied to him. His head had been crushed into a shapeless mass by his murderers.

Prof. Elizabeth J. French of Philadelphia spoke to a fair audience yesterday afternoon on the subject of Mrs. H. C. Culver's residence, 3501 Morgan street. The proceeds, which were given to the White Cross Home, amounted to $45.

The police arrested a man who gave his name as Bob Hunt yesterday, suspecting that he was the man who attempted to assault Mrs. Jane Miller at her residence, No. 1333 North Eighth street. Mrs. Miller said that during her husband's absence a man attacked her; she screamed for help and the neighbors rushed in. The man got away, however. She identified Hunt, but he claims that he is innocent and had not been near Mrs. Miller's house.

The police yesterday arrested Maggie Stoner, a 17-year old girl who has been living with some negroes at 107 Center street. She came here two years ago from Edina, Mo., and entered a house of bad name, but on account of her age she was taken to the House of the Good Shepherd. She escaped from the chapel during service one day and since then she has not been seen until yesterday when she called for some clothing. One of the sisters pointed her out to a policeman who followed her and arrested her.
